New Move To Oust Daugherty Gains Headway

SINCLAIR ACTION RENEWS IMPETUS FOR SUSPENSION

Federal District Attorney s Hampered in Con-empt Case by Interests of His Chief.

FRESH PRESSURE BOUGHT ON COOLIDGE

Resignation of Attorney General Was Topic of Discussion at White House Saturday Night.

Washington, March 24.—By order of contempt proceedings brought against Harry E. Sinclair for refusing to answer questions put to him by the senate oil committee, the senate has given new impetus to the demand for the resignation or suspension of Attorney General Daugherty.

Following the vote to hold Sinclair in contempt, Senator Dill, of Washington, democrat, called for Daugherty's suspension, declaring that the federal district attorney, who was appointed by Daugherty, should be given free hand in prosecuting the case. Dill pointed out that Daugherty himself is under investigation by the senate committee, and therefore has deep personal interest in the proceedings against Sinclair.

New Reason for Suspension.
"With this question of the right of members of congress to examine witnesses being taken to the supreme court, there is an added reason why Daugherty should be suspended," Dill said in the senate. "The federal district attorney cannot be as free to prosecute Sinclair as he would if he were not a superior like Daugherty who is friendly to Sinclair. Daugherty should be suspended by the president so that the federal attorney may have a free hand."

Georgia Plans Battle Against Oriental Pests

Insists on State Inspection of Plants From Quarantined Districts.

The Georgia state board of entomology will fight, to the highest court possible, any efforts to compel Georgia to admit plants from regions quar-antined against the Japanese beetle and the oriental peach moth, without state inspection, regardless of the fact that the plants in question bear the specification tag of the federal horticultural board.

Declaring that if these pests should be a footing in Georgia, they probably would entirely destroy the Georgia peach, apple, pecan and other horticultural crops, Ira T. Williams, member of the state board, on Monday secured a ruling from Attorney General George M. Napier to the effect that the federal inspection tag does not compel the state to abrogate its own police rights and admit these plants without inspection by the state department and its agents.

Charges Propaganda.
Mr. Williams charged that propaganda is being distributed by ornamenting the plants with the federal inspection tag.

BALDNESS AWAITS WOMEN WHO HAVE THEIR HAIR BOBBED

New York, March 24.—Ebbled hair is a sure means for causing baldness, and it will not be many years before the world will be filled with bald-headed women, Joseph Byrne, editor of a beauty magazine, said in addressing the annual convention of the American Master Hair Dressers' association today.

Milliners, he explained, in order to conform to present-day hair style, have been obliged to make head bands exceedingly tight to keep the hats on, resulting in the death of the hair.
Mr. Byrne said that girls of the present generation would be bald before they reached maturity.

AUDITORIUM SHOW TO LURE LOVERS OF PRETTY HOMES

Exposition Seems Likely To Cause Increase in Number of Applicants for Wedding Licenses.

BY RALPH T. JONES.
Thomas H. Jeffries, whose duties as Fulton county ordinary include issuing of marriage licenses, every preacher in Atlanta who performs wedding ceremonies, and every railroad that sells honeymoon transportation to newlyweds should give a commission on their matrimonial revenues for the next month to come to officials of the "Own Your Own Home" exhibit, which opened its doors at the Auditorium at 7 o'clock Monday night.

For it is hard to conceive of any pair of coming "engaged" witnessing this exhibition without making a bee-line for the marriage vow-taking place. It is just as hard to imagine any couple now in the stage of "about-to-be-engaged," who can leave the exhibit without at least fixing the date before he tells her goodnight.

All Home Conveniences.
Everything you could ask is offered at the exhibit. From the front lawn to the backyard fence, not a thing which could be used to make home more convenient, more comfortable, more beautiful or more attractive has been left out. The show will be open every day this week, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night, and if the innate ambition of every man and woman to some day own their own roof-top doesn't take them all down to the Auditorium, humanity has changed mightily in the last few years.

It is impossible to mention all the exhibits. But high lights in memory may, it is presumed, be recalled without arousing the resentment of overlooked exhibitors.

To begin with, there is a bathroom, installed complete on the left as you enter. If there is anything which would improve this one installed by the Crane company, it has been invented within the past few hours. Of course, the fittings could be of solid gold.

mittee To Devote Some

LACK OF POWDER BURN ROUSES BROOKHART

Inquiry Delayed Until Wednesday on Account of Illness of Senator Wheeler With Cold.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, March 24.—One section of the congressional mill of investigations, the Daugherty committee, today stilled its wheels temporarily. The illness of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, in charge of the investigation, and the absence of other senators, forced the committee to call off the hearing set for today to wind up the story of Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess Smith.

Although Chairman Brookhart announced the committee would recess until Wednesday, there is a possibility it may proceed tomorrow, if Senator Wheeler should be able to return. He was confined to his bed today with a severe cold. Regardless of whether he is able to return by Wednesday, other senators will proceed with the inquiry.

Many Subpoenas Issued.
The delay may enable Mrs. Mabel Wheeler Brookhart, assistant attorney general, to conclude other work and be present to conduct Miss Stin-son's cross-examination.

Today's recess enabled senators to look over the field of prospective witnesses and prepare more subpoenas. A subpoena was sent to the Commercial Bank of Morris, Sharp & Company, Washington Courthouse, Ohio, the home of Jess Smith.
His head bookkeeper was ordered to submit records dealing with affairs of Smith in running down a report that his estate was larger than that of the generally understood, and also that he had been in the Midland National bank, which is headed by M.
S. Daugherty, brother of the attorney general.

SKYSCRAPER LIMIT RAISE PROPOSED

Planning Commission Will Recommend Change of Maximum From 150 to 300 Feet.

Lifting the skyscraper limit from 150 feet to 300 feet was recommended by the planning commission Monday in sending back to council the Jesse W. Armistead skyscraper ordinance which had been referred to it.

The 300-foot limit would apply to all "H-3" territory as zoned at present, including all of the downtown business district and extending out to the Penitentiaries to include the block on which the Biltmore hotel stands.
The ordinance as sent back to council was the Armistead substitute for the Russell ordinance to permit skyscraper to exceed the 150 foot limit up to 50 per cent of the excess height of any building now standing within 150 feet of the proposed new skyscraper.

Release of Morse From Atlanta Pen Draws Probe Fire

Senator Brookhart Proposes To Find Out Just What Part Daugherty Played in Case.

LETTER FROM FELDER TELLS OF $100,000 FEE

Correspondence Read Into Congress Record Two Years Ago Likely To Be Used Once More.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, March 24.—In its investigation of the fitness of Attorney General Daugherty to continue as a member of the cabinet, the Brookhart investigating committee is expected shortly to inquire into the episode relating to the release of Charles W.
Morse, financier and shipbuilder, from the Atlanta penitentiary.

There always has been considerable mystery about this incident and many stories have been circulated concerning it. One was that Morse ate soap and thereby affected his health so that a board of examining physicians recommended that he be released in order to save his life. Another story was that Daugherty, through his political influence with William Howard Taft, then president, brought about the release.

Felder Is Summoned.
A subpoena has been issued for Thomas B. Felder, who was Daugherty's law associate in the Morse affair, and who is now under indictment in New York with Gaston B.
Means on a charge of attempting to bribe Daugherty in connection with the glass racket cases. Felder is expected to be asked for the full details of the Morse case.

This affair was made the basis of a demand for Daugherty's resignation from the cabinet nearly two years ago when certain documents came into possession of Senator Caraway, of Arkansas. These documents, some originals and some photostatic copies, were read into The Congressional Record.

Fee Was To Be $25,000.
They purported to show that Daugherty and Felder had made a contract with Morse by which they were to receive $25,000 upon obtaining a pardon or commutation of the sentence Morse was then serving in Atlanta federal penitentiary. A retainer of $5,000 plus expenses not to exceed $1,000 was to be paid to Daugherty.

This contract was made August 4.

Lawns Made Spick and Span For "Home Beautiful" Show

Small Army of Workmen Busy Getting Everything Ready at Three Houses.

Everything was hustle and bustle around one of the houses in the "Home Beautiful" exhibit Monday. A small army of men were at work in Morningside, getting everything spick and span. The lawns were all being graded and cleaned up in preparation for the landscape gardeners who will plant the shrubbery and flowers today, and this most important part of the exhibit will be finished.

The front and back yards, when given the attention they should have, reflect the character of a home, and when they are neat and well kept they evidence the stability of the owner of that home.

STATE CONVENTION DELEGATES NAMED BY M'ADOO HEADS

Supporters of Native Son Will Gather Here April 23 From Every County
in Georgia.

PLACE OF CONVENTION NOT YET DETERMINED

Auditorium Not Available on Account of Grand Opera—Subcommittee
Will Find Building.

Delegates to the state democratic convention, which will be held in Atlanta on April 23, were announced Monday by Miller S. Bell, manager of state campaign headquarters for William Gibbs McAdoo, successful candidate in the state wide primaries of March 19 for Georgia's support for the national democratic presidential nomination.

Under rules of the state executive committee, the successful candidate was given the privilege of naming the delegates and alternates, not only from those counties which he carried in the primary, but also from those won by his opponent.

Meeting Place Not Decided.
The place where the state convention will be held has not yet been decided. The auditorium will be unavailable on April 23, as that date falls in grand opera week. Chairman Ed Maddox, of the state committee, however, has named a subcommittee to secure a suitable meeting place and its action will be announced shortly.

It will be the duty of the state convention to instruct these delegates to cast the Georgia votes for William Gibbs McAdoo, for the democratic nomination for the presidency of these United States.

Delegates and Alternates.
The delegates and alternates announced on page 6, column 1.

RAISE IN CANDLER TAXES SUSTAINED

Assessors Refuse To Make Change in Million-Dollar Increase on 26 Pieces of Property.

A million-dollar increase in assessment on 26 pieces of Atlanta property owned by Asa Candler, incorporated, was sustained by the city tax assessors Monday after hearing protests of a representative of the corporation, which had asked for a review of the assessments.

The property, which had been assessed $2,796,650 in 1923, was increased to $3,714,423 for this year under the administration's program of assessing all business property on a basis of 70 per cent of its market value.

$15,000 Additional Revenue.
The increased assessment will produce $15,000 additional revenue this year for the city from the Candler property.

ATTENDANT BEAT PATIENT TO DEATH, WITNESSES CLAIM

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—W. L.
Lindsey, Little Rock, Ark., an attendant at the city sanitarium, was held responsible for the death of Ned Posten, 40, a negro, who died March 21, in the verdict of a coroner's jury here today. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Other negro patients at the sanitarium said Lindsey beat Posten for refusing to help him at his work, and described other "latitudes." They said he had gloves he pulled on to protect his knuckles before "lanning" patients. Another attendant told that Posten's body bore severe bruises and both eyes were blacked.

M'ADOO DESTINED TO ROUT HIS FOES IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Victory in Georgia Due To Be Repeated in Primary Poll in Western State, Says Sullivan.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
Washington, March 24.—McAdoo is likely to make in South Dakota this week a demonstration not unlike the one he made in Georgia last week.
In South Dakota, McAdoo is practically the only democrat who has any real strength.

This opposition to him consists of an effort to send an uninstructed delegation to the democratic convention.
This opposition is described by politicians both in South Dakota and in Washington as being backed by William Randolph Hearst. If this is true, none of the politicians are able to understand it, for so far as they know, Hearst is not engaged in any similar activity in other states. The act of it is that in the only primary to be held this week, McAdoo is likely to make as strong a showing as he did in Georgia.

Signs of Victory.
This means that by the beginning of April, next week, and within ten weeks of the convention, McAdoo and McAdoo's friends are going to feel "justified" in saying that, judged by the results in all the early primary states, including Georgia, North Dakota, South Dakota and Missouri, the race has been decided. To the evidence of the states in which McAdoo has personally been a candidate, his friends will cite what has happened to Mc-Adoo's only rival for the strength of the southern states, Senator Underwood.

Concerning Underwood, the McAdoo managers claim that he did not do as well in his home state of Alabama as a favorite son is commonly expected to do.

They say further that the overwhelming defeat of Underwood by McAdoo in Georgia is a conclusive test as to whom the south wants for its candidate.

McAdoo Looks As Choice.
In short, McAdoo's friends will claim by the end of the present week that he is the demonstrated choice of the democrats of the south and west.
On the face of the returns so far, this is true. It may continue to be true up to the time of the convention.
But it should be said that the really big test of western sentiment has not yet been made. Most of it will be made during the early days of April.

On April 1, Wisconsin will hold its primaries. On April 2, there will be a state convention in Kansas. On April 7, there will be primaries in Michigan. On April 8, there will be primaries in Illinois and Nebraska.
If, in these primaries and conventions of large and typical western states,

CREAGER PULLED WIRES TO BLOCK CASES, IS CLAIM

Friend of President Harding Accused by Attorney for Victims of Alleged Texas Fraud.

TELEGRAMS ARE READ INTO SENATE RECORD

Daugherty, Hays, Senator Bursum and Others
Presented to Committee.

Washington, March 24.—Charges that R. R. Creager, republican national committeeman for Texas and a close personal friend of the late President Harding, used his influence to stop a postoffice investigation of his land-selling operations in Texas were made before a special senate investigating committee Monday.

The alleged incident occurred in 1921 while Will Hays was postmaster general.

James R. Page, counsel for victims of the alleged land frauds, presented telegrams to the senate committee purporting to show that:

Charges Are Serious.
1. Creager, in messages to Hays and Rush D. Simmons, chief postal inspector, complained against activities of Inspector J. M. Donaldson, of Kansas City, who was investigating Creager's Texas land operations.

2. Following these messages, Simmons' chief clerk ordered the Kansas City office to "take no further steps to present any case to the grand jury there which in any way involved
R. R. Creager or any of the Creager companies until Inspector William Simmons completes his investigation and reports to Washington."

Wired Another Kick.
3. Creager subsequently complained to Simmons that "the injurious work of the inspector in Kansas City continues. I feel that we should follow our plan as agreed upon and have Inspector Williamson take charge there and have all records in the case transferred to you."

4. Simmons later ordered Donaldson to Washington with the Creager records.

5. Simmons wired Creager "no investigation will be resumed in Kansas City or elsewhere until Williamson sees your records and talks to you."

Got Donaldson Transferred.
6. That Williamson, then at Pittsburg, was ordered to meet Creager at Lincoln, Neb.

Chief Inspector Simmons testified before the committee that Creager had asked and obtained the transfer of Inspector Donaldson, claiming he was "prejudiced and over-enthusiastic."

He said Creager complained also about the methods the postoffice department was employing in obtaining evidence. He specifically objected to action of the department in sending out a circular letter to all land purchasers, Simmons testified.

Conditions Colored, Charge.
The alleged frauds concern sale of land in Hidalgo and Cameron counties, in southeastern Texas. Purchasers had petitioned that conditions in the Rio Grande valley were misrepresented. Mayor Cole, of Brownsville, testified that the resolution of Senator Heflin, of Alabama, under which the investigation is proceeding, grossly misrepresents the land in the Rio Grande valley and said soil experts had pronounced its fertility second to none.

Creager was lost to President-Elect Harding at Point Isabel, Texas, immediately after the 1920 election.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS NAMED IN LETTERS.

Washington, March 24.—Senate inquiry into alleged fraudulent sale of land in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas—newest of the many investigations in progress before congressional committees—got under way with a rush today.

Voluntarily correspondence between the postoffice and justice departments and their field branches in Washington and individuals outside who were interested in the several development companies in the valley were read into the record during a three-hour session of the senate postoffice committee's subcommittee, headed by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire.

Sought Inspector's Transfer.
The letters and telegram dealt generally with efforts made in 1921 and 1922 to obtain a "continuance" of cases pending in Kansas City against the W. E. Stewart company, and with the successful attempt of R. E. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas, to have the investigation of the Alamo Land and Sugar company conducted by a post office inspector from the Kansas City district, transferred to the jurisdiction of some other agent.

Mr. Creager charged that J. M. Richardson, the inspector who started the latter inquiry was prejudiced, and on his complaint, Chief Postal Inspector Rush D. Simmons placed O. B. Williamson, of Philadelphia, on the case. Mr. Simmons was the only witness before the committee today.

Many Names Mentioned.
Among those mentioned in the correspondence were Attorney General Daugherty, Postmaster General Hayes, Senator Bursum, of New Mexico; State Senator David M. Proctor, of Missouri; District Attorney C. C. Madison, of Kansas City, and W. F. Zumburn, counsel for Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas, in the election contest now pending.

Attorney General Daugherty's first recorded connection was on January 10, 1922, when his confidential assistant, W. E. Martin, wired to District Attorney Madison that "my understanding was department would not object to continuance of the Stewart case; advise me if anything occurred to change status."

Madison replied the case had been set for February 5, and later wrote to the attorney general direct, calling attention to the "conditions attending this case," among which he cited a "hot attack" in The Kansas City Star declaring the case had been brought with "sinister political influence." The article said W. E. Stewart, president of the land company, had located Missouri; District Attorney C. C. Madison, of Kansas City, and W. F. Zumburn, counsel for Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas, in the election contest now pending.

U. S. Judge Balked.
Stating in his letter "we are very careful to give them not even the slightest hint for such attacks," Madison called attention of the department to the refusal of Judge Van Valkenburg, when the petition for continuance was presented to him in chambers at Joplin, "to be made a goat."

Six days later Madison wrote Senator Bursum that the department of justice would not consider any action which "might jeopardize the government's interests."

Bursum Drawn In.
Senator Bursum had been drawn into the matter, according to the record on January 16, when State Senator Proctor, of Missouri, telegraphed him that an early hearing of the Stewart case will be embarrassing.

"Please get in touch with Madison," the message added.

The next day a message to Madison, signed "H. O. Bursum," declared "it is possible to fix this matter, it would be much appreciated," and made further reference to embarrassing, which would be caused by an early hearing.

Zumburn, in a letter dated January 19 and marked "personal," assured the postmaster-general of his high regard for "your broad vision, declaring that the writer was the 'least of many friends in the west' who would like to see Mr. Hays president."

Mayfield's Counsel In It.
"To be acquainted with you is to recognize your worth," declared Senator Mayfield's counsel, who is said to be high in the democratic councils in Texas. He also expressed anxiety for a continuance of the Stewart case.

Mr. Hays, expressing his appreciation of the letter, informed Zumburn that "apparently the suit is in the hands of the department of justice, the postmaster-general made a similar statement in reply to a letter from J. W. Hoyt, of San Antonio, representing the Lower Rio Grande Water Users' association, who had declared, 'there are persistent efforts to have this case dropped.'"

No Plans to Drop Case.
"This department has no intention at present of dropping the investigation," Mr. Hays added.

"Thanks for the assurance," Hoyt wired on June 25.

Counsel for complaining clients of the land companies explained to the committee that much time had been devoted to the correspondence because it was intended to make the files the basis of the whole case. Mr. Page's stock of letters and telegrams had not been nearly exhausted when the committee adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Moses and Heflin Tilt.
A warm controversy was precipitated in the committee when Chairman Moses warned Mr. Page that the confidential files of the postoffice department could not be spread on the public record and protested against the time being consumed in reading matter which could easily be inserted without reading.

Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, author of the resolution under which the committee sat, objected to the chairman's position.

"Everything that has been read so far," said Senator Heflin, "has been material and competent." He reminded the committee that "if we disagree, the matter can be taken easily to the floor of the senate."

ONLY FOUR REMAIN IN VENUE OF 200 FOR M'CRAY TRIAL

Indianapolis, March 24.—With only four remaining of the special venire of 200 drawn for jury service in the trial of Governor Warren T. McCray, charged with the embezzlement of $155,000 of the state fair board funds, Special Judge Chamberlain today ordered the drawing of an additional venire of 50 names. The new venire will report tomorrow.

The opening session of the second week of the trial this morning, at which little progress was made toward the selection of a jury was marked by a statement from Judge Chamberlain, in which he charged talesmen with "manufacturing opinions in the case and excuses" in trying to avoid jury service. He termed such practices "trifling with the court."

War of Wets and Dries.
If that does not happen, McAdoo will nevertheless have great power. He will be the accepted leader and spokesman of fully half the convention. Under his leadership the progressives and "dries" will have solidarity and confidence and they will be able to show a united front against the group of conservatives and wets.

If at the time of the convention they think it inadvisable to nominate McAdoo, they will turn to some one like Ralston, of Indiana, or Carter Glass, of Virginia. The story of the convention will consist of the tug-of-war between, on the one hand, the conservatives and wets, mainly from the east; and on the other hand, the progressives and "dries," mainly from the west and south. If it tug-of-war should be greatly prolonged, the nominee may be some compromise not named in the present article.

ney general. The committee now is in the midst of a struggle to obtain access to all accounts of the Daugherty baby.

Probe Smith Death.
How Jess Smith met his death may be a phase of the inquiry pressed further by the committee, according to Chairman Brinkhart. Although Governor Nevitt of the District of Columbia issued a suicide certificate, the testimony of Miss Stinson Saturday and other information reaching the committee may result in further efforts, the chairman said, to "establish the facts."

Smith died in the apartment here which he and Attorney General Daugherty had maintained. A revolver was found near his body, but Miss Stinson said she observed no powder marks about the wound. Chairman Brookhart is a firearms expert, a renowned rifle shot, and doubts if powder marks could be absent in the case of such a suicide as Smith's has been reported.

Urge Mannington to Return.
Determination of the committee to obtain the testimony of Howard Mannington, of Ohio, linked with Smith in the testimony as a receiver of money in the Daugherty-Carpenter prize fight film and whisky deals, resulted today in a request by Chairman Brookhart to Secretary Hughes asking the state department to help induce Mannington to return from Paris. Mr. Hughes replied that, although the department of state was without power to compel the return of an American citizen except by extradition proceedings in cases where a crime has been formally charged, he would gladly use his "good offices." The American embassy in Paris was instructed to locate Mr. Mannington if possible and advise him of the committee's desire to have him return here for examination.

William A. Orr, New York politician named in the fight film and whisky "deals," presented himself to the committee today under a recall order which followed the testimony of Tex Rickard, fight promoter, and John Gorman, who told of the $200,000 whisky "deal" in New York. Orr was excused subject to recall.

NO AUTOPSIES HELD OVER SMITH'S BODY.
Washington, March 24.—The death of Jesse W. Smith in the attorney general's apartment last May was a plain case of suicide, J. Ramsay Nevitt, coroner for the District of Columbia, has informed the senate Daugherty investigating committee.

H. L. Scifie, former investigator for the department of justice, questioned Dr. Nevitt Saturday concerning the death of Smith, under instructions from the senate investigating committee, to ascertain whether the rumors that Smith had not committed suicide were true.

Despite Nevitt's positive assertion, Scifie developed the facts that no autopsy ever had been made on Smith's body; that no testimony ever had been taken from persons close to Smith, and that no one ever suggested that an inquest be held.

Probe to Continue.
Scifie's investigation of Smith's death will continue. He is now attempting to ascertain the names of persons who furnished Dr. Nevitt with the information on which he based the conclusion that death was caused by suicide.

Thus the rumor that Smith did not commit suicide, as intimated by Miss Roxie Stinson, has not yet been affirmed or denied. Scifie's investigation therefore is considered vital to the investigating committee, and the result is being awaited eagerly by members of the committee.

Scifie's Report.
Scifie's report to the committee read in part:

"I asked Dr. Nevitt for the official records upon which he based his conclusions that the death of Jesse W. Smith resulted from a self-inflicted gunshot wound and specifically asked him the following questions:

"Was an autopsy made and testimony taken?"

"To both of these questions he replied in the negative and stated he had no records except the certificate setting forth the cause of death as 'gun-shot wound of the scie." No Inquest Held.

"Did any one suggest that an inquest be held?"

"To this he replied in the negative but stated that an inquest would have been held if any one had suggested it."

"I asked Dr. Nevitt for the names of the parties who were present at the death of Jesse W. Smith, he replied that he did not recall names of any of the parties who were present nor did he have records to show the names of the parties."

"I am now attempting to ascertain the names and addresses of the persons who furnished information to Dr. Nevitt upon which he based his conclusions that the death of Smith was suicidal in order to obtain for the committee first-hand information."

McAdoo should do anywhere near as well as he has already done in North Dakota and Georgia, and is expected to do in South Dakota. McAdoo's friends will be able to say without much debate that he is the spokesman of the great majority of democratic sentiment in the south and west.

One Qualification.
To this assertion, one qualification should be made:

McAdoo is carrying these early primaries partly as a personal candidate for the nomination, and partly as a symbol. The great bulk of the democrats in the south and west are progressive and are "dry." Of this sentiment, McAdoo is practically the only leader in the field as a whole. When McAdoo's name was touched in the oil investigation, his followers fell into two groups. One group was determined to go on with the original program of making McAdoo the nominee. The other group felt that while McAdoo's availability to make the fight against Coolidge had been impaired by his having been Dukeny's attorney, nevertheless the McAdoo strength in the party must be held together as a unit. It was most fortunate for the progressive and "dry" democrats that this crisis during February was passed without any cleavage of friendships. If there had been a permanent split in the ranks at that time, the conservative and "wet" democratic leaders would have been able to seize control of the situation and do as they pleased. But all the old McAdoo leaders and followers managed to keep in step and preserve a united front.

War of Wets and Dries.
Those who were determined to go on and name McAdoo did not quarrel with those whose judgment differed. Those who felt that McAdoo's availability had been impaired, refrained from taking any steps against McAdoo. They merely kept silent and went on with the program of helping to elect McAdoo delegates.

What is clearly going to happen is that when the convention comes there will be two main factions. One faction will be the "old guard" leaders, mainly from the east, who are conservative and "wet," at least "most." Their effort will be to nominate either Governor Smith, of New York, or else Underwood. The other faction will consist of the progressive and "dry" democrats of the west and south. Their leader will be McAdoo. There can be no question, in McAdoo's strength in the convention. If at that time, the judgment of the progressives and "dries" is that McAdoo can beat Coolidge, they will nominate him.

If that does not happen, McAdoo will nevertheless have great power. He will be the accepted leader and spokesman of fully half the convention. Under his leadership the progressives and "dries" will have solidarity and confidence and they will be able to show a united front against the group of conservatives and wets.

If at the time of the convention they think it inadvisable to nominate McAdoo, they will turn to some one like Ralston, of Indiana, or Carter Glass, of Virginia. The story of the convention will consist of the tug-of-war between, on the one hand, the conservatives and wets, mainly from the east; and on the other hand, the progressives and "dries," mainly from the west and south. If it tug-of-war should be greatly prolonged, the nominee may be some compromise not named in the present article.

Probe Smith Death.
How Jess Smith met his death may be a phase of the inquiry pressed further by the committee, according to Chairman Brinkhart. Although Governor Nevitt of the District of Columbia issued a suicide certificate, the testimony of Miss Stinson Saturday and other information reaching the committee may result in further efforts, the chairman said, to "establish the facts."

Smith died in the apartment here which he and Attorney General Daugherty had maintained. A revolver was found near his body, but Miss Stinson said she observed no powder marks about the wound. Chairman Brookhart is a firearms expert, a renowned rifle shot, and doubts if powder marks could be absent in the case of such a suicide as Smith's has been reported.

Urge Mannington to Return.
Determination of the committee to obtain the testimony of Howard Mannington, of Ohio, linked with Smith in the testimony as a receiver of money in the Daugherty-Carpenter prize fight film and whisky deals, resulted today in a request by Chairman Brookhart to Secretary Hughes asking the state department to help induce Mannington to return from Paris. Mr. Hughes replied that, although the department of state was without power to compel the return of an American citizen except by extradition proceedings in cases where a crime has been formally charged, he would gladly use his "good offices." The American embassy in Paris was instructed to locate Mr. Mannington if possible and advise him of the committee's desire to have him return here for examination.

SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL REMARKS CAUSE STIR

Washington, March 24.—Speaker Hett's remarks about the senate, during a recent address in Boston, stirred up a heated half-hour debate today in the house, during which a speaker laid aside his gavel and took the floor to defend himself.

HOW TO GET RID OF COLDS AND CATARRH

Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold, for they must realize that sooner or later this may lead to asthma and other serious troubles. Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, is the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from natural herbs, flowers, and berries which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no poisons, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, asthma, nasal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

You can get from any drug store a convenient pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effect.—(adv.)

leagues, stepped from the speaker's rostrum for a five-minute speech. Speaker Hett told the house that he would interpose no objection to the house acting on any senate resolution questioning his right to make the references he did to that body.

He explained, as did Mr. Treadway, that the resolution offered today was drafted and presented without his knowledge.

Representative Wingo, democrat, Arkansas, said before the speaker began his address, that Mr. Hett, in his Boston speech, had violated the spirit of the house rules, and in defending his action Mr. Hett said certain democratic members, including Mr. Wingo, in the last presidential campaign had made remarks more complimentary about the senate than he used.

Republicans interrupted the speaker several times to applaud and cheer him, particularly when Representative Connery, of Massachusetts, put in a remark that as a democrat, he believed Mr. Hett was within his rights and should have the privilege of free speech when not presiding over the house.

Senator Caraway had based his remarks on the recent address of Mr. Hett in Boston, in which the speaker referred to the senate as a "veritable school for scandal" and declared that some senators were showing a tendency to "insinuate resolutions" rather than grapple with legislative problems. In reply the Arkansas senator asserted that the house "had sunk to the lowest point in its history as a legislative body."

The Treadway resolution declared Senator Caraway's remarks were a reflection upon the dignity of the house of representatives and its procedure and constituted a breach of privilege, and were "calculated to create unfriendly relations and conditions between the house of representatives and the senate."

MEASURE TO STOP PLANTING-REPORT UP BEFORE HOUSE

Washington, March 24.—(Special.)—Early action by the house is expected on the bill of Senator Harris on cotton statistics of the department of agriculture which would stop the planting of reports and publish the estimates at the same time and for the same periods as the census figures of the census bureau. The bill was ordered favorably reported without amendment Monday by the house agriculture committee. The senate bill passed the bill and it will go to the president when acted upon by the house.

DeKalb Man Freed After 2nd Grilling In Salesman's Death

Decatur, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Clarence Rogers, automobile mechanic, of Ingleside, was released from custody here a second time in a very few hours early tonight after communication with Lexington, S. C., officials investigating the death of F. R. Mason, Vermont salesman, found on the Lexington-Columbia highway last Saturday night.

Members of the sheriff's office declared that they found nothing to connect the man with the slaying, and communicated with Lexington. They afterwards freed Rogers. Another communication asked that he be held, and after that a telephone conversation between Sheriff McCurdy and the Lexington office freed him again.

Rogers was not at home when we sent for him Sunday. Mr. McCurdy said, "We left word that we wanted to see him, and when he came home, he came to Decatur and gave himself up, stating that he wanted himself cleared from all marks of suspicion. He told a straight-forward story, and I could find no flaw in his statements. He is now at home at Ingleside, and states that he will gladly go to South Carolina and testify if his assistance is needed. He said that he was anxious to have the entire matter cleared up."

Rogers declared that he knew nothing of the incident and said that he left Mason in Augusta with another man Sunday a week ago. He said that he had not seen Mason since that time, and said that he could establish an alibi.

W. H. Covington, uncle of Rogers, also of Ingleside, is being held by South Carolina officers pending further developments. His wife, who is an employee of the Georgia Duck and Cordage mills, at Ingleside, stated that her husband is a painter and that he left to work in South Carolina. She stated that she does not know a man by the name of Mason, and that she did not know that her husband was being held until she saw the South Carolina dispatches.

Officials investigating the case state that robbery seems to have been the motive for the slaying and state that it occurred between 8 and 11 o'clock Sunday night, March 16. Covington is said to have told officers that he left Mason and Rogers traveling together. Polish, said to have been sold by Mason, was found in Covington's possession.

Student To Plead Guilty To Charge Of Firing School

Barnesville, Ga., March 24.—Senator J. H. Boykin, of Lincoln, employed by natives of J. W. Busbee, student who confessed to setting fire to a dormitory at Gordon institute on March 13, before leaving Barnesville for his home today stated that Busbee will plead guilty.

Judge Ogden Persons, who is now in New York, is expected home next week when he will give Busbee a preliminary hearing. Kenneth Matthews, also a student at Gordon institute, who was arrested in connection with the same case, has been released under $2,000 bond.

That drop in retail prices in January must have been on feathers for it made no sound.

SENATORS IN TILT ON POST EDITORIAL

Washington, March 24.—Senate proceedings opened today with brief parliamentary tilt as a result of which republican senators were forced to listen to an editorial from The Washington Post assailing them for lack of leadership. It was first offered by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, under the "petitions and memorials" order of business, but despite a plea by Senator King, democrat, Utah, that it was a petition calling upon republican leaders to "do something" Senator Harrison was taken off his feet when Senator Lodge, republican leader, demanded "regular order."

The Mississippi senator remained in ambush until a Texas local bill popped up for immediate passage, then got the editorial read by the clerks as the only comment made in the senate on that measure.

Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, asked if The Post wasn't owned by the "same Ned McLean we have been hearing about in committee" and if the editorial didn't indicate that McLean was "perilously near to going into the democratic party."

"For my part, you can have him," the Iowa senator told Senator Harrison.

Senator Neely asked if he felt the same way about Henry Ford, "recently acquired by the republican party."

"Yes, you can have him, too," Senator Brookhart said.

No Better Silk Stockings At $2 Pair Than the "As-You-Like-It"

Two dollars is about the price the average woman wants to pay for silk stockings. The best-selling, most-frequently-called-for silk stocking in our stock, selling at $2 the pair, is the "As-You-Like-It." They've never been given any puffy advertising; merit has created the demand for them. Where one woman praises them for their beauty, another says she buys them because of the exceptional service that they give.

REHEARING IS GRANTED ON TRAIN BLOCK ORDER

Washington, March 24.—A rehearing was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission on its order requiring 42 Class 1 railroads to begin installation before 1929 of automatic train control devices.

The 42 railroads given the rehearing were those named in the commission's last order on the subject, issued January 14, 1924. They are the smaller of the Class 1 railroads. The larger roads, previously ordered to install the train-stop devices on one or more divisions, were not named in the rehearing order.

The rehearing will not affect the other provisions of the order, and the companies will be required to go forward with arrangements for the installation pending the proceedings. The rehearing date was fixed for May 7 in Washington.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, external bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmale Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmale Co., 4012 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tireless exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects.

Camphor Acts Quick

People are surprised at the quick action of simple camphor, with diluted hyalastin, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One small bottle helps any case sore, weak or strained eyes. Aluminum eye cup free. Jacobs Pharmacy Company—(adv.)

Fine for Neuralgia

Musterole insures quick relief from neuralgia. When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, just rub a little of this clean, white ointment on your temples and neck.

Musterole is made with oil of mustard, but will not burn and blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

$2,000,000 Plant To Be Constructed Near Perry Shortly

Perry, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) The Clinchfield Portland Cement corporation will begin construction of the $2,000,000 cement plant near here at once, according to messages received by Duncan & Nunn, attorneys here. Workmen have begun clearing the ground, preparatory to the erection of the plant.

General Manager F. Guenther, Jr., of the company, has been in Perry recently and visited the site of the plant. Duncan & Nunn, the firm's attorneys, have been requested to assist in procuring homes in Perry for 300 skilled workmen, who will be here.

Outside of the home plant of the company in Tennessee, this plant will be the largest cement plant in the south. A ridge of lime deposits just south of Perry, that extends across the county from east to west, has been pronounced by experts to be the best in the state. The Clinchfield Portland Cement corporation, of Kingsport, Tenn., has made extensive purchases on the eastern portion of this ridge, and when their plant is completed will have a capacity of 2,000 barrels of cement a day, the capacity will increase from time to time.

The plant, according to information given out by the officials, will cost $2,000,000. Homes will be procured in private families for workmen until houses can be constructed.

Evangelistic Meet Of Christian Church Will Begin Sunday

An evangelistic institute of the Christian Church of the western district of Georgia, will begin Sunday morning with a special service at the Central Christian church tabernacle. Other institutes during Monday and Tuesday will be held in Newnan and LaGrange.

Leading ministers and laymen of the church will attend, and plans are being made to care for a tremendous crowd at the opening service of the institute.

Volunteer evangelism, Christian Endeavor work and other special phases of church work will be featured. I by leading ministers and laymen of the state. A group of women widely known in Christian church work will take a leading part during the institute. Miss Dorothy Cook, Miss Christine Hunt, Miss Frances Thurman, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. S. Raum will head this feature of the meetings Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Judge T. O. Hatchcock, Evangelist J. S. Raum, Thomas Alvin Mose, J. E. Sturgis and many others will be heard on various subjects relating to work of the church.

Three Services Daily.

At LaGrange Thomas W. Allgood will have charge of the institute and at Newnan, Mark Anthony will be in charge.

Services will be held morning, afternoon and night, beginning at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. At 3 o'clock a number of speakers will appear in short talks. At 4 o'clock Evangelist Raum will speak to the assembly. Services also will be held at 6:45, 7:15 and at 8 o'clock Sunday. Opening session Monday begins at 10 o'clock in the morning, with services almost hourly during the remainder of the day and ending with a big service at 8:45 o'clock at night.

Whole State Represented.

Tuesday's session begins at 10 o'clock in the morning, with services throughout the day and ending with the feature service at 8 o'clock.

BANKERS TO OPEN ANNUAL MEETING IN MACON TODAY

Macon, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Members of the Country Bankers' Association of Georgia began arriving here tonight for their eighth annual convention which will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Wilson M. Hardy, of Rome, president, and a number of other officials reached the city tonight.

The convention is expected to be the largest in the history of the organization. Two dinners will feature the convention and business has been so arranged that the duties of officers and all details will be completed in time for the bankers to attend the peach festival at Fort Valley Thursday as guests of the Peach Blossom association.

The annual dinner will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Hotel Dempsey, and a dinner will be tendered visitors Wednesday night at the Dempsey by the Macon Clearing House association.

It is expected more than 300 bankers will attend the convention. In addition to Mr. Hardy, president, other officers are Luther Bond, of Royston, and R. B. Dixon, of West Point, vice presidents, and L. R. Adams, of Atlanta, secretary.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Williams Set for Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. P. Williams, president of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad, who died Saturday night at the home, 478 Peachtree street, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence. Interment will be in West View, with H. M. Patterson and Son in charge.

Mrs. Williams has been prominent in Atlanta business and civic circles during 14 years since moving here from Savannah. For many years, after succeeding her husband as president of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad, she was known as the only woman railroad head in the country. She also was president of the Georgia Land company, and developed large tracts of land owned by that concern in Florida.

TEACHER GETS $2,800 IN STREET CAR SUIT

Decatur, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Miss Ethel Davis, school teacher of Whitehall, Ga., was this morning awarded $2,800 damages in the city court here for damages received when an automobile in which she and six other teachers were riding was struck by a street car operated by the Georgia Railway and Power company.

The accident occurred on Ponce de Leon avenue February 24, 1923. Seven suits were filed by occupants of the car, all of whom received injuries in the crash. A verdict of $1,000 was awarded A. H. Taylor, of Athens, driver, in the court here in January. R. C. W. Ramspeck, Dorsey, Davis and Paul Lindsey are representing the plaintiffs.

Miss Davis was cut in the face. The party was en route from Atlanta to Athens at the time of the collision.

One Man Kicks As Rome Serves Rum for Water

Constitution Bureau Masonic Temple Annex Pledge 1009.

Rome, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Sam King, city manager, received a complaint from a prominent south Rome citizen that his water meter had a "funny" taste. Mr. King called an assistant and went over to investigate. When the cap over the meter was lifted a gallon of corn whiskey was found poured on it. The whiskey was removed and meter service restored. Nobody claimed the booze and it was taken to the city hall and "destroyed."

Floyd May Fire County Cop

Rome, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) As an aftermath of recent election, an effort is being made to abolish the office of Floyd county policeman. Both Judge Wright, of the superior court, and Judge Hale, of the city court, oppose the move. Grover Williams, prohibition enforcement officer until the republicans put him out, fills the office now. Williams was a candidate for deputy sheriff on the ticket with Judge George Reece, which lost. Evidence also gathered the evidence against the Third Avenue hotel, which is under fire in the courts for alleged subconduits of its guests.

Bandits Leave No Trace.

Rome, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) No clues have been found to the identity of the two unmasked white bandits alleged to have held up and robbed the Standard Oil company station within a block of the Southern station. The two young men in charge of the station said the bandits appeared with drawn revolvers, ordered the employees into an interior and looked them up and then emptied the cash register of its contents and drove off in an automobile. The filling station employees called to a nearby residence through an open window for someone to come and let them out.

2 Burned Youths May Face Charges In School Flame

Moultrie, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Officers investigating the burning of the garage of the Culbertson consolidated school in which two youths were arrested and now concerned with burns received by Louie Martin, about 15, and Ted King, 17, former students at the school, the same night and who have told conflicting stories as to how the fire occurred. If any arrest is made in the case it is intimated that the charge will be burglary and not arson, since clues now being followed indicate that the garage was broken into by some one seeking gasoline and that the explosion and fire which followed resulted from the striking of a match, which ignited the fumes in the tightly closed building.

RECTOR REFUSES OFFER OF GUARD AGAINST ASSAULT

Baltimore, Md., March 24.—Receipts of many anonymous letters, the latest of which contains a promise of a definite attack upon his life. The Rev. Dr. H. P. Almon Abbott, rector of Grace and St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, today refused police protection against a person who has evidently been offended by certain of Dr. Abbott's sermons and public utterances upon a particular theme.

Dr. Abbott, with the latest and most threatening message spread out before him, refused to accept police protection. He said he is willing to await developments. He has not the slightest clue as to the identity of the writer, he said.

The letters, all of which are similar in tone, are grammatical in construction and written in a masculine hand on plain white paper of good taste.

LAST HONOR PAID TO A. W. M'ARTY AT DOUGLASVILLE

Douglasville, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Funeral services for A. W. M'arty, 74, vice president of the Douglas Banking company, retired merchant and pioneer citizen of this city, who died at his home here Sunday after a lingering illness of seven weeks were held at First Presbyterian church today, being conducted by Rev. George L. King, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was at Douglasville cemetery with Masonic ceremonies.

Mr. M'arty was one of the wealthiest men of this section and had been married twice. His first wife was Frances Stewart, of this city, two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Abernethy and Mrs. P. H. McGuirk, and one son, William M'arty, of Sea Breeze, Fla., survive this union.

He is survived by a second marriage, who was formerly Miss Ossie McCord, of Jackson, Ga., and three daughters, Mary Owen, 11; Ossie Wilson, 9; Claire T., and son, Tom, 5.

How She Took On 15 Pounds— Regained Her Strength and Lost All Nervousness

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh is Cod Liver Oil. It's full of vitamins. But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to take it from the bottle any more, for now Jacobs' Pharmacy, E. H. Cone, Inc., and all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, sugar-coated and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form and avoid the nasty results as with the horrible smelling liquid.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in thirty days—why, money back and no quibbling about it, either.—(adv.)

AUTO BANDIT ROBS MANAGER OF STORE AND FLEE IN CAR

Macon, Ga., March 24.—F. O. Sumner, manager of a chain of grocery stores here, was held up at the point of a pistol today and the cash drawer robbed of $30 by a strange man who came in and asked for a box of crackers and then threw a pistol in Sumner's face and demanded his money. The man escaped in a waiting automobile, according to advice received here on the case. No arrests have been made.

Charged With Slaying Man in Macon, Negro To Stand Trial Here

Macon, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Charles H. Garrett, solicitor general of the Macon circuit, and P. J. Lamb, assistant, will go to Atlanta tomorrow night to conduct the prosecution of Robert Hill, negro, scheduled to go to trial in Fulton superior court before Judge C. H. Howard Wednesday. The case is being handled here today, the case has been given the right-of-way.

Hill is under indictment for the slaying of J. W. Culpepper, a 21-year-old railroad shop worker, whom he is charged with shooting to death at Central City park on the night of December 30. He is also charged with a criminal assault on Culpepper's girl companion.

Relatives of Hill today forwarded to Atlanta a complete change of clothing for the trial, the ones he wore to Atlanta not being suitable for him to wear in court because of an outbreak of smallpox in the Fulton tower.

Solicitor General Garrett stated today the murder case will be called on and he believes the state's case can be presented within two or three hours after the jury is secured. E. W. Butler, attorney for Hill, stated today a fight will be made and that no plea of guilty will be entered. He has not yet announced he is ready for trial.

Four cases of smallpox have been discovered at Fulton tower, but have been segregated, officials at the prison stated Monday night.

Woman, 100, and Dog Cremated in Flames As House Is Burned

Valhalla, Ga., March 24.—Liza Harper, said to be 100 years old, and her faithful dog were cremated in a small cottage here Sunday. The fire, according to firemen, evidently caught the old woman's dress while standing in front of an open grate. Negroes in the neighborhood heard her screams and went to the house, but they were unable to reach her.

Hewlett Hall Accepts Mercer Invitation To Speak at Dinner

Macon, Ga., March 24.—(Special.) Hewlett A. Hall of Newnan, Ga., will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Mercer University alumni, which will be held this year on June 2. His formal acceptance of the invitation was received today. Mr. Hall received his A. B. degree from Mercer in 1883.

GEMS WORTH $12,000 SNATCHED BY THIEF

Cleveland, March 24.—Diamonds valued at $12,000 were snatched from the hands of Samuel Resser, New York city jewelry salesman, today noon by a man who grabbed the case in which Resser carried the jewels, and made his escape before the alarm could be given, the police were told. The case was snatched from Resser as he started to leave a street car to visit a customer.

Final Dress Rehearsal TO MAKE MOTION PICTURES; NOTABLES TO ATTEND Of Peach Pageant Today

BY MRS. C. N. ROUNTREE.

Fort Valley, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The final dress rehearsal of the third annual peach blossom pageant will be held here Tuesday in order that last-minute improvements can be made and for the purpose of posing for motion picture cameras and newspapermen of the entire south. All committees have announced that preparations are complete and that they are awaiting the day for the presentation of the world's greatest peach show.

C. L. Shepard, general chairman of the third annual peach blossom festival, has received a message from Governor Clifford Walker in which he states that he will attend the festival day with his official staff in full-dress uniform. Visitors from nearly every state in the union are expected and messages from New York and Pennsylvania state that large delegations will be here from those states.

Governors Accept.

There will be a large party from Charlotte, N. C., and from Mobile, Ala., Southern Railway officials from Cincinnati, Chicago, Baltimore and other places will be here. They will arrive in Macon Wednesday and will be at the Dempsey hotel until early Thursday morning, when they will come by auto to Fort Valley. Special tables have been arranged for governors who have accepted invitations, the military officers, other notables, and bands. This special table will be decorated with flags and bunting in addition to the peach blossoms. Many prominent clubwomen are among the list of notable people who will be present.

Photographers Present.

Photographers and press representatives from papers and magazines throughout the country have been on the ground for the past few days, and spectacular scenes from the pageant and pictures of the king and queen have been made.

On Tuesday the dress rehearsal will be held and moving pictures of the wonderful pageant will be made. The Central of Georgia and Southern railroads are co-operating to make the festival a success from every viewpoint.

Central To Enter.

The Central will have a float in the parade, which will take the form of a motorcade, with a number of passengers within. The passengers will be a dozen little boys and girls chaperoned by Miss Evelyn Smith. They are Sara Martin, Ruth Brown, Evelyn Evans, Mary Evans, Helen Wright, Mary McCoy, Anzi Newton, Marc Sammons, Leighton Shepard, Marion Brown, Ira Sammons and Harris Nell, Jr.

FOR GERMANS VOTED BY HOUSE

Washington, March 24.—Disregarding party lines, the house tonight voted a resolution to appropriate $100,000 for the purchase of food for destitute women and children in Germany.

The measure stipulates that the foodstuffs are to be brought in the United States and transported to Germany in shipping board vessels. After which a score of amendments were offered. Only one, by Representative Jones, democrat, Tex., which provided that the supplies be purchased through farmers' organizations, adopted, 165 to 68.

Many Amendments Fail.
An amendment by Representative Gerald, republican, Ohio, would have sought to prevent expenditure of any of the appropriations until a soldier bonus bill is enacted into law. It was thrown out on a point of order, while an amendment by Representative Underhill, republican, Massachusetts, to withhold the appropriation until the German government spends an equal amount for the same purpose was rejected, 108 to 84.

Amendments rejected by vote were included one by Representative Butt, republican, North Dakota, to confine the supplies purchased to wheat, and another by Representative Welford, farmer-laborer, Minnesota, to increase the appropriation to $200,000,000.

Fish Leads Fight.
Representative Fish, republican, New York, author of the resolution, and a former service man, led the fight for adoption, while Representative Connally, democrat, Texas, directed the attack against the measure. Representative Burton, republican, Ohio, declared the resolution to be unconstitutional, while an opposite view was taken by Representative Tucker, democrat, Virginia. The Ohio member said it afforded an opportunity for the government to do good.

Tucker insisted it would tend to consolidate the German vote but would mean nothing as a relief measure because the government would not pay for it. A vote would be available for cents per day would be available for cents per day.

Garrett Opposes Bill.
On the contrary, Representative Laguardia, republican, insurgent, New York, declared the bill would do more good in five minutes than the house of nations in five years.

Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the democratic leader, said he wished it were possible for him to support the resolution as he had "as much human sympathy as most men." He added that he was "not unmindful of the hearing it might have on foreign relations," but that he "was unable to find authority for it in the constitution."

A warm appeal for the resolution was made by Representative Cooper, republican, insurgent, Wisconsin, who said although Germany might have sufficient food it was destitute of money with which to purchase it. His views were endorsed by Representative Connally, democrat, Massachusetts, who said he had fought the German army "but didn't make war on the German women and children."

Andrew Saw No Famine.
Representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, declared that although reports there were no crop failures in Germany and statistics also showed that the number of cattle and sheep had increased in that country. He said he himself had seen conditions there and that he "found food and money in the restaurants."

Germany has resources in other parts of the world, Mr. Andrew added, and it should use them. The opera houses and stores, he declared, are full of people, and Germany is "generally crowded with food."

In concluding, Mr. Andrew said: "If the wealthy classes of Germany can afford luxuries, if there is no crop failure or food shortage, then why in the name of common sense give them $100,000,000?"

Decorating Classes
Of Free Trade School
Meet Twice a Week

The painting and decorating class of the Free Trade school will meet regularly at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday and Friday nights of each week at the Tech High school building.

The Free Trade school is conducted free for all young men who are interested in taking up special trade work of any nature or men who desire to improve their knowledge of trade work.

Classes are under supervision of T. W. Clift, vocational training representative on duty with public schools, and the work is being praised by all those who have had occasion to investigate, according to officials.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS
PLANS FOR BANQUET

Miss Gilbert's Sunday school class of St. Mark's Methodist church will hold the annual class banquet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Pecora's cafe. A splendid program is being arranged and officers for the coming year will be installed by the superintendent, Joel Horner.

New officers are: President, Homer P. Bond; first vice president, Mrs. W. A. Dodge, Jr.; treasurer, S. P. Evans; corresponding secretary, Miss Katie Mae Barrer; recording secretary, Miss Laura Turner.

The class is carrying out the fourfold plan and the new vice presidents in charge of various phases of class work are: Religion, H. H. Bixler; social, Miss Laura Turner; mental, Miss Mary Haynes; physical, Robert E. Dorrough. In addition to these officers there is an advisory board composed of L. A. Eldredge, W. A. Dodge, Jr., Vernon H. Frank, Alvin W. Evans and Hugh H. Barrett. Miss Ruby Lide is editor of the class paper.

BASE AT SAND POINT FOR FLYERS APPROVED

Washington, March 24.—The house naval committee today approved plans of the navy to establish an aviation base at Sand Point, Wash.

The committee, however, turned down the navy department's request for authority to purchase the town of Quantico, Va., adjoining the marine corps base.

Many Notables To Attend Commercial Congress Meet

The Pan-American congress under the auspices of the Southern Commercial congress, which meets in Atlanta next October, will be one of the most far-reaching conventions that will assemble here in a long period, according to members of the latter organization who returned here Sunday following a two weeks' industrial and economical survey of Cuba.

Frank T. Reynolds, assistant manager of the Ansley hotel, a member of the commission, declared Monday that fully 1,000 delegates, including dignitaries from all of the Latin American countries, would attend the congress. He further asserted that considerable interest was being manifested in Cuba over the meeting to be held here.

"It will be remembered," said Mr. Reynolds, "that through the machinery of the Southern Commercial congress such notables as Woodrow Wilson, William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt came to Atlanta thirteen years ago on the occasion of the last meeting here."

"The Pan-American congress will have 21 accredited diplomatic delegations from the Portuguese and Spanish-American countries, including Panama. Another interesting feature and one quite unusual will be the division of commercial and consular agents. The work of these agents is that of representatives for shipments to and from their several countries."

Port Association.
"There will be another very important conference of bankers who will enter into the study of credits and finance. Another representative body of men who will attend this meeting will be that of the Five Ports association, with delegates from Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville, and it is believed that Miami, Key West, Tampa and Havana will be induced to join. This section of the congress will be presided over by Matthew Hale, president of the ports association."

Arrangements have been made to appoint a Cuban and Portuguese secretary, both of whom will come to Atlanta about a month prior to the convention to acquaint themselves with all matters pertaining to their respective cities and bring back large delegations.

Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Southern Commercial congress, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., will open an office at Hotel Ansley. He will remain until the close of the congress.

Two South American presidents will be here and it is virtually certain that President Alfredo Zayas and Mrs. Zayas, of Cuba, will attend. Arrangements are now being perfected in Washington to have a formal invitation extended by President Coolidge to President Zayas.

This invitation together with one from Governor Wolf and Mayor Sims will be sent through the diplomatic channels at Washington and be delivered to President Zayas by General Enoch H. Crowder, the American ambassador to Cuba.

There will be two business conferences daily on the roof of Hotel Ansley and three big general events held at the auditorium during the week. Interpreters of Spanish and Portuguese will be engaged for the congress. Colonel Thomas R. Preston, of Chattanooga, will have charge of the "International business" conference under the general direction of M. B. Welborn, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of the sixth district.

Mayor Sims, assisted by Mr. Reynolds and Frank E. Shumate, of the Georgia Railway and Power company; George W. Walker and Wiley Moore, will organize the local committee to perfect all arrangements within the next few weeks.

MAXIM DRAWS REPLY TO HIS ATTACK ON TEA

A protest has been registered by the India tea growers against Hudson Maxim's attempt to have the eighteenth amendment applied to tea and coffee drinking. While Mr. Maxim evidently did not intend to place tea and coffee in the same class as alcoholic liquors, the newspaper clipping from all over the United States read very much as though he considered tea and coffee as intoxicating.

In a cable to this country, Sir Charles Higham, who was in America recently as the representative of the India tea growers, declares: "It is plain that Mr. Maxim is trying to use tea as a weapon with which to fight the prohibition law, to which he is opposed. I understand he has employed counsel to attack the validity of the eighteenth amendment, declaring that tea and coffee drinking should be prohibited under the Volstead act just the same as alcoholic beverages are prohibited."

"Mr. Maxim seems to confound the words 'intoxicating' and 'stimulating.' Tea, if properly made, is one of the finest and most healthful stimulants, just as beef and milk are stimulants. Alcohol is a purely artificial stimulant, tea is a natural stimulant and the best medical authorities agree that tea is beneficial, a fine digestive aid and an incentive and urge to better work. When Mr. Maxim seeks to have the Volstead act applied to tea drinking he is not only making an unjust attack upon a beverage that is wholesome and healthful, he is making himself a trifle ridiculous."

Bearing out Sir Charles Higham's candid statement as to the healthfulness of tea-drinking, Ernest Nathan, a prominent American tea broker, declared that an investigation carried out by the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York had demonstrated that tea-drinkers were among their best risks, and that tea-tasters who have to taste as high as 500 cups of tea a day, had been found, after statistical examination, to have longevity records superior to those of other professions and were considered "preferred risks."

Clergy Approves
As Barefoot Girls
Dance in Church

New York, March 30.—Some of the clergymen who acted as unofficial jury expressed approval today of a barefoot dancing as performed in the historic Church of St. Mark in the Bowery yesterday against the wishes of Bishop Manning.

Six barefooted girls, clad in flowing garments of silk, gave the ritual dance of the Della Robbia Annunciation.

Several score clergymen acted as jury at the invitation of the Rev. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's, who recently was requested by Bishop Manning of the New York Episcopal diocese to discontinue the dance services which he has been holding periodically.

The dancers appeared both in the afternoon and evening. Admission was by card only and thousands were turned away. The police had to regulate the crowds outside the church.

"I offered to let Bishop Manning appoint 25 of a committee of 50 to judge the dance and he ignored the offer," Dr. Guthrie said. "When I invited the clergy and the public to witness and judge for themselves. The bishop's stand is autocratic. I take the democratic view and on this dance I will stand or fall."

The six dancers symbolized birth, death, pain, pleasure, consciousness, and the virgin spirit of earth. They danced to the music of the organ and a harp.

Four seats were held until the services began, reserved for Bishop Manning and members of his family. No one claimed them but it was understood the bishop was unofficially represented and that he will receive a report on the services.

Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, said he found the dances "beautiful and inspiring."

"I am perfectly certain that if Bishop Manning had been that he would have seen nothing objectionable," Dr. Reiland added.

Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, former pastor of Madison Square Presbyterian church, said: "The service should receive commendation. The pantomime was beautiful and the rituals had a definite spiritual value."

The Rev. H. M. Bowden of the home mission board of the Congregationalist church, said he was pleased and that Dr. Guthrie had "a large idea."

CLEMENCY GIVEN 3 MORE VETERANS

Leavenworth, Kan., March 24.—Clemency to three more veterans of the world war has been granted as the result of the recent investigation by a special war department board, Warden W. L. Biddle, of the federal penitentiary here, announced today.

Albert Rappmund and Emmet Bishop have been pardoned and James E. Skiles has received commutation of sentence from 20 years to 15, making him eligible for parole in May. Bishop was confined in the Atlanta penitentiary, the other two here.

To Care for Mother.
Rappmund, who had served five years of a 30-year sentence on a charge of manslaughter and mayhem, left today for his home in Texas, where he will care for a widowed mother.

Records show that while aboard a transport going overseas, Rappmund shot and fatally wounded another soldier. Upon learning his comrade was dead, Rappmund attempted to take his own life.

Killed Comrade in Skiff.
Skiles, whose home is at Trenton, Tenn., was originally sentenced to serve life after he had been convicted by a court martial in France of murdering a comrade in a scuffle over a gun.

Sentiment in favor of clemency for Skiles was aroused recently when it was made known that Skiles had been made the butt for the jeers of I. W. W. inmates while acting as custodian of the prison flag.

Both Rappmund and Skiles had perfect prison records.

HOUSE WILL PROBE
PLANES AND BONDS

Washington, March 24.—The house today authorized two more investigations—no one in the aircraft industry, the other into alleged duplication of government bonds at the bureau of engraving and printing.

Special committees will be named by the speaker to conduct both inquiries which were authorized by viva voce vote.

Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, leader of the republican insurgents, proposed the aircraft investigation while Representative King, republican, Illinois, offered the resolution for the bureau of engraving inquiry.

At the suggestion of Representative Leagworth, the republican leader, the speaker was authorized to name a committee of nine members instead of seven as provided in the Nelson resolution.

Investigation of the army, navy and mail air services, as well as of the aircraft industry generally, is proposed in the resolution which was presented several weeks ago by Mr. Nelson after he had charged on the house floor that corruption could be proven in the industry in its relation to the government.

New Bible Translation Had Precedent in Greece

Columbus, Ohio, March 24.—The American translation of the New Testament simply follows a precedent established by the Greek version, it was declared by Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, professor of Biblical and patristic Greek of the University of Chicago, and author of the widely discussed translation, in an address here tonight.

"This is substantiated," he said, "by discoveries of the Greek papyri, which have given a vast fund of the common Greek of New Testament times with which to compare the translation in that language."

"It is now recognized, generally by New Testament grammarians in Europe and America that the language of the New Testament is simply the colloquial everyday Greek of its time," Dr. Goodspeed said.

"While the rapid changes going on in English make the King James version seem more stiff and archaic, the version seen more stiff and archaic with every passing decade, these discoveries have been showing that an appropriate translation for the Greek Testament should not be stiff and archaic, but natural and colloquial," Dr. Goodspeed continued.

Until the papyrus discoveries there never was enough of this common Greek of New Testament times to compare with it.

"It is in the light of these discoveries and their proof that the Greek of the New Testament is that of everyday life, that I have used just that kind of English in making my translation. And it should not astonish anyone."

St. Jerome, in making the great Latin version, expressly disclaims any elegance of style, or traces of rhetoric. The King James version, itself, when it was made, was meant to be understood by the common people, but the changes in English since its time have made much that was then clear hopelessly obscure.

With every passing decade, these discoveries have been showing that an appropriate translation for the Greek Testament should not be stiff and archaic, but natural and colloquial," Dr. Goodspeed continued.

INDEPENDENT KLAN HOLDS CONFERENCE

Muncie, Ind., March 24.—The first national congress of the Independent Klan of America convened here today with a registration of several hundred delegates from Ku Klux Klan organizations throughout the country.

The new organization was launched a month ago when local klansmen decided to withdraw from the body which has its headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., after charging that the klans had been "under a tyrannical, autocratic government."

No other kind of translation of the New Testament, as its leading writers and translators agree, "The King James version, itself, when it was made, was meant to be understood by the common people, but the changes in English since its time have made much that was then clear hopelessly obscure."

Auburn, Ala., March 24.—(AP.)—The Howard Baptist baseball team paved its way to a 6 to 4 victory over the single A's today at the home grounds here today. Three hits and four runs were recorded by the visiting Bulldogs in their time at bat during the first inning. The home team came in with a home run in the third inning to feature the day's work.

The game was tied, having slugged through to the Auburn lead in the victory. Hyde counted a pair of hits and a single.

"Doc" Knight took up pitching responsibilities after pitcher Starnett retired in the second, pitched the last two innings during his reign on the hill. Starnett at short and Captain Griffin at catcher.

Gaylord, Howard catcher, fanned behind the plate for the Baptists in the fourth while they were getting ten putouts and three errors.

Captain Shelton brought down a fect that "Ham Stevens, who had been hurling for the visitors, was one of the big winners of the Auburn college baseball. And he was. Stevens had a string of offerings from a more insignificant-looking ball to a more magnificent delivery than any of smoke. He sent eight Auburn batters to their benches via the strikeout route. It also was reported that Coach Clegg was so impressed by Auburn's squad of expert stick runners in First.

Four Runs in First.

Howard was first hit. Dawson went to first after being hit by pitcher. Skenkel scratched. Barfield and Barfield singled, scoring Dawson. Brindley singled and scored Skenkel.

HYDE SOCKS FOUR-PLY H

BY EMMET SIZEMORE.

Auburn, Ala., March 24.—(Special.)—In a fatal first-inning brawling rampage the Howard Baptist baseball team paved its way to a 6 to 4 victory over the Auburn Plainsmen here today. Three hits and four runs were recorded by the visiting Bulldogs in their time at bat during the first inning. Hyde, Bulldog outfielder, came in with a home run in the third inning to feature the day's work.

Advance information had simmered through to the Auburn plains to the victors. Hyde counted a pair of baggers and one single.

"Bones" Knight, who took up picking responsibilities after Stone retired in the second, pitched good game, allowing only two runs during his reign on the hill. Stone at short and Captain Griffin at out turned in a good game.

Gaylord, Howard catcher, feared behind the plate for the Baptists handled thirteen batters by perfecting ten strikes, by striking out three getting ten putouts and three as Captain Shelton brought down a

fect that "Ham Stevens, who had been hurling for the visitors, was one of the big winners of the Auburn college baseball. And he was. Stevens had a string of offerings from a poor, insignificant-looking ball to a powerful, flaming delivery full of smoke. He sent eight Auburn batters to their benches via the strikeout route. It also was reported that Coach C. W. Johnson told Auburn a squad of expert stick runners in First.

Four Runs in First.

Forward was being hit. Dawson went to first after being hit by pitcher. Scokel scratched. Barfield and Barfield singled, scoring Dawson. Brindley singled and scored Skokel.

THREE MORE PRACTICE DAYS FOR CRACKERS AT GRIFFIN

Change Is Made in Starting of Macon and Petrel Games on Wednesday and Thursday

Griffin, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The Macon and Petrel games, which were to have been played here today, have been postponed until Wednesday and Thursday. The reason for this change is the fact that the Macon team, which is now in the city, has been unable to get its equipment in time for the game. The Petrel team, on the other hand, has been able to get its equipment in time for the game. The Macon team will play the Petrel team on Wednesday, and the Petrel team will play the Macon team on Thursday. The games will be played at the Griffin Athletic Club.

DARTMOUTH SQUAD IS DUE TO ARRIVE HERE FRIDAY

Griffin, N. H., March 24.—(Special.)—The Dartmouth baseball squad, which is expected to arrive in Griffin on Friday, is the best team in the country. The team has won 15 games and lost 5. The team is coached by Coach E. A. Tamm. The team will play the Macon team on Friday, and the Macon team will play the Dartmouth team on Saturday. The games will be played at the Griffin Athletic Club.

V. & L. QUINTET FINISHES AIRLY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Lexington, Va., March 24.—Though the basketball season is nearly over, the V. & L. quintet has finished a very successful year. The team has won 15 games and lost 5. The team is coached by Coach E. A. Tamm. The team will play the Macon team on Friday, and the Macon team will play the Dartmouth team on Saturday. The games will be played at the Griffin Athletic Club.

A PIECE FOR THE PAPER

Bill and Bip. Bill and Bip, surnamed respectively, will, next Monday, engage each other in some furious golf, to decide the championship of Georgia Tech. Bill enters the finals by virtue of his yesterday's victory over Skinny Brannon, by the rather lopsided score of 7 up and 6 to play. Bip plays Bill by dint of having emerged victorious from a nip-and-tuck struggle with Pete Dorrough, 2 up. A fine eagle on No. 14, after the match had been squared on the thirteenth green, started Bip on his way to victory.

Both of them play best when they have a piece of candy to munch on as they saunter down the fairway or sit on a short-hole tee waiting for some funeral foursome to count its score and chant its post-mortems. A piece of peanut brittle before each drive, a hunk of chocolate before a brassie second, a little of both before a short pitch, whatever's left before a twelve-foot putt—and old man St. Andrews himself couldn't show them a good time. It ought to be a great match, for both are fine fellows and play golf that's worth watching. I hereby place my bid for my old job—one of the candy caddies.

GRID CHANGES NOT TO BE FAVORED BY COACHES--CAMP

Copyright, 1924, Special Leased Wire. New York, March 24.—The drastic changes in the football rules which sweeps away altogether the "free" from which the ball has been kicked, adopted by the football rules committee at its meeting here Saturday, will find little favor among coaches or players, in the writer's opinion. Doubtless they would have been better satisfied if the building up of an entire team for the whole year, had been permitted to continue.

The officials, however, will be glad to see this change, for all sorts of punning questions have been put up to them as to when an "artificial" tee, heretofore prohibited, really was. One captain contended that a molder, manufactured and handed out to him, was not artificial so long as it was made of clay taken from the field of play!

YOU CAN'T SHAKE HANDS WITH HOPPE

Willie Hoppe, champion of the world at 182 ballroom billiards, like the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt and the Prince of Wales, has discovered that popularity and greatness have their penalties. Some time ago the cue wizard suffered from a slightly strained ligament in the right shoulder which made it difficult for him to execute masse shots in the international tournament a year ago.

HARRY GREB CONQUERS KEISER

Baltimore, Md., March 24.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, middleweight title holder, scored a technical knockout over Fay Keiser, of Cumberland, Md., in the twelfth round of their scheduled 15-round bout here tonight. Keiser was outclassed and took a bad beating in every round.

Oakland Team Beats Pirates

Oakland, Cal., March 24.—A seventh inning rally by Oakland Acorns Monday afternoon sent the Pittsburgh Pirates to defeat by a score of 6 to 4. Ray Kremer, former Acorn player, pitched the first six innings for the Pirates, and held the locals to one run and four hits. Relieved by Lundgren who proved wild, Kremer saw his good work lost when the Acorns scored two men.

Lynch To Fight Bobby Wolgast

New York, March 24.—Joe Lynch, who lost his world's bantamweight title to Abe Goldstein at Madison Square Garden last Friday night, has been signed for a 10-round match with Bobby Wolgast, of Philadelphia, at Toledo, Ohio, next Monday. Eddie Mead, Lynch's manager, announced today.

Jacket Squad Is Expected To Be in Excellent Shape For Clash With Old Rivals

Dartmouth visits Tech this week-end for two games of baseball. The first game will be played on Friday at 4 o'clock. Grant field will be the scene of this conflict. Take note, the Saturday affair will be played at the new stadium of the Crackers at 1:30 o'clock, prior to the Crackers' Detroit game. These two excellent games will offer fans a rare opportunity of getting enough of baseball for one day.

Both wrestlers declared they were in splendid form, meaning in wrestling circles well-fod. Recently when the two met here, Zbyszko declared Lewis punched him. This time Zbyszko says if Lewis uncork a series of chokehold punches, uppercuts and midriff jabs which will put Lewis out for the count.

Tobe Edwards Joins Memphis

Memphis, Tenn., March 24.—Three more chicks entered Johnny Dobbs' wagon today when they emerged from the clouds in the full regalia of athletes. The new comers, Joe Dailey, pitcher, Mike Massey, combination infielder and outfielder, and Tobe Edwards, the Georgia Tech star first-sacker, had their first workout with the team this afternoon.

Citizenship Luncheon Will Be Large Event of April 3

The Parent-Teacher Presidents' club and the citizenship committee of the Atlanta public schools will entertain at a large and elaborate luncheon on Thursday, April 3, at the Commercial High school, at 12:30 o'clock.

The occasion will assemble 200 guests, and will include the members of the board of education, fifty Atlanta ministers, representatives of the schools and supervisors. All arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp, chairman of the citizenship committee; Mrs. John C. Andrews, state chairman of Americanization committee; and Mrs. Howard C. McCutcheon, president of the Parent-Teacher Presidents' club, and to whom the citizenship committee reports.

A souvenir book, a story of the constitution of the United States, published by the American Bar association, will be presented each guest.

A musical program will be given by the Girls' High and Commercial High Glee clubs. Mrs. Mellichamp, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. McCutcheon will act as official hostesses.

Prize for Best Health Play Won by Girl Scouts of Troop 21

Originality and humor, somewhat unusual in the amateur works of the average school girl, are displayed to a marked degree in the health play turned in by the girls of Troop 21, which has won the prize offered by the Girl Scouts.

The health play will be presented at the health carnival, April 1. This will be one of the greatest days in the Girl Scout's year, because the carnival will end the health trail, and prizes will be given to those who have best followed this trail.

The troop which has won the prize by presenting the best health play, will have the joy of seeing their own work produced at the carnival. Troop 21, the prize-winning group of skillful and enterprising girls, is the Commercial High school troop, having as leader, Miss Anne Barnwell, assisted by Miss Marie Parks.

The prize is a very beautiful set of colored bird plates which have long been desired by more troops than one. The plates are very artistic and life-like, and will be invaluable in the scout work of Troop 21.

Mrs. Harvey Parry, director, will meet the members of Troop 21 on Wednesday at Commercial High school at 2:30 o'clock. At this meeting plans will be made for the presentation of the health play. It is of greatest importance that this very excellent idea be well acted, because the Girl Scouts will put on their health play in friendly competition with the other organizations taking part.

"One of our finest of the many fine troops planned the play," Mrs. Parry said. "We are exceedingly anxious to put it on in a manner which will be a credit to the troop and to the whole organization."

"We will, of course, include other scouts in the play, not confining the actors to the members of Troop 21."

Students' Recital Will Be Given

The pupils of Mrs. Duane Thomas Yould will give a students' dramatic recital at the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, at Cable hall, Thursday evening, March 27.

Miss Morrison To Wed Former Atlantan In Selma, Ala.

Selma, Ala., March 24.—Of special interest is the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Paul Malone Grist, formerly of Atlanta, Georgia, to Miss Frances Hobbs Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Eugene Morrison, of Selma, Alabama, and a descendant of a prominent pioneer family of the South.

The wedding will be solemnized April 22, at the First Presbyterian church, Selma, Alabama, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Morrison, after finishing her high school course at the Selma High school, went to the Alabama College for Women at Montevallo for special study of music and a literary course. Later she studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, spending two years at this institution. The bride-elect has won the love and admiration of a wide circle of friends by her winsomeness and charm.

Her family came to Alabama more than one hundred years ago settling what is known as Valley Grande, a short distance from Selma, and where members of the family served the Presbyterian church at that place which is the oldest of that faith in Alabama.

She comes from a noted family of Presbyterian ministers who have had churches in nearly every part of the country, and has an unusually distinguished and wide connection.

Mr. Grist came to Selma from Atlanta several years ago as director of athletics with the Young Men's Christian association of the city. He has made a host of friends both in business and social circles.

Mr. Grist's mother, Mrs. T. W. Henderson, has arrived for a visit and will remain through the pre-wedding festivities and marriage the latter part of April.

O. E. S. Chapter Holds Meeting

The entertainment given by Gate City chapter, No. 233, O. E. S., Friday evening in the chapter room, 233 O. E. S. street, was a most successful one.

The excellent talent that appeared on the program.

After singing "America," Miss A. gave a reading, "Miss Lucy Walker," a dance in costume, Judge L. F. McClelland spoke along the lines of fraternal duty, love and devotion. Mrs. LaFontaine's class was very pleasing in several dances, the personnel of which included Misses Helen Greenway, Lillian Cannon, Mary Bell Stanton, Priscilla Moore, Lucile Berry and Florence Burford.

One of the features of the evening was the presence of Mrs. Sallie McElroy, associate grand conductress, O. E. S. of Georgia, who in a brief talk touched on some salient points of harmonious and co-operative work in the various walks of life. E. Volpi, with the assistance of Miss Nora Allen, Mr. Dendy and Mr. Liebman, furnished several musical numbers.

Gate City chapter, yet in its second year of existence, is one of the active chapters of the state. Mrs. J. R. Smith is worthy matron and Oliver Coleman is worthy patron.

Vase Is Presented To O. E. S. Chairman

Mrs. Edward H. Smith was hostess on Friday afternoon at her home on Holderness street to her subchapter and their committees on home and means of Martha chapter, O. E. S., at the termination of her duties in this capacity as chairman.

A beautiful engraved silver vase was presented to Mrs. Smith from her committee members as an expression of their love and loyalty. Mrs. W. H. Roberts made the presentation with a few words appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. Smith responded with a speech of thanks and appreciation of the meaning of the gift.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Ida Saville and Mrs. H. G. Andrews. The four subchapters were presented with vanity compact and each guest received an individual gold case containing perfume.

There were twenty-six guests present.

Berean Class Has Banquet

An interesting event of the past week was the banquet given on Tuesday evening in the Berean class room of the West End Baptist church in honor of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

The room was decorated in green and white, carrying out the St. Patrick ideal Mrs. White, superintendent of the West End Presbyterian Sunday school, was the speaker of the evening.

An interesting feature of entertainment was a unique guessing contest of familiar Irish songs, only one or two bars of each song being played.

About 60 guests attended the banquet.

Lovely Dinner Party Honors Miss Worley And Francis Hunt

Miss Elizabeth Sumpter Worley and Francis Littleton Hunt, of South Boston, Va., whose marriage will be an interesting social event of Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Westminster Presbyterian church, were honor guests at an informal dinner party Monday evening, at which Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hirsch entertained at the Ingleside Country club.

The guests were seated at a long lace-covered table adorned with a centerpiece by a large silver vase holding a variety of spring flowers.

Baskets filled with these same lovely blossoms were placed at intervals, alternating with silver centerpieces holding unshaded yellow tapers.

Miss Worley wore an attractive gown of flesh-colored chiffon beaded with crystals.

The guests included the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Beauty Chats By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS.

H. H.—Edna G.—The fact that your face is thin and drawn shows you need to be built up. If you are underweight take cod liver oil. Get some outdoor exercise every day. Breathe deeply to get plenty of oxygen into your blood, and sleep with all windows open for the same reason. In a few months you should feel made over.

Marjorie D., Jean M.—The advice to "Edna G." applies also to your needs; in addition to this message with a building cream.

Do not—Ask your doctor about the hard lump left from the pimple. You may aggravate it if you massage it yourself. You can extract the hairs between the brows by using tweezers, or continue with the massage to train them into a line with your brows. Each time you wash off the melleage the unruly hairs will get out of place, but this tendency will gradually lessen if you continue the training. Brushing helps as much as using the gum.

An eye-cup is shaped so it goes over the eye so you can open and close the hair inside the cup. Weak salt water makes a good douche for tired or weak eyes.

H. S.—Bobbed hair continues to be a fad. There is no reason why a girl who is as busy as yourself with advanced school work, should not reduce herself somewhat by having her hair cut. Possibly in some localities it may be considered unduly, but this is not a general opinion at all.

Anxious—At 25 years of age with height of five feet, five inches, you should weigh about 125 pounds. When you build yourself up to this the line in your face will be gone. Advice today to "Edna G." will help you also.

Leona J.—M. F. C.—If your scalp is inclined to be oily, it is short. You can remove much of this oil from the hair by using soft towels just as if you were drying the hair after a shampoo.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Miss Cora Hill Is Guest of Honor.

Miss Cora Hill, bride-elect of April, was the honor guest at a miscellaneous shower given by her sister, Mrs. J. G. Wheeler, Saturday afternoon, at her home in West End.

The house was decorated in spring flowers of yellow and white, the same color scheme being carried out in the minutes and ices.

A literary contest was enjoyed, and the bride-elect was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Thirty friends of the hostess and honor guest were invited.

Mrs. F. L. Bivings Is Complimented.

Mrs. F. L. Bivings entertained at a bridge-tea on Friday afternoon at her home on N. Moreland avenue in honor of her daughter, Mrs. F. L. Bivings.

The color scheme of green and yellow was carried out in a profusion of buttercups and daffodils. The guests included about twenty-five young matrons.

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Bivings have recently come to Atlanta to make their home.

Find Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undetermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen: After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years. . . . After adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation. I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Miss Moseley Weds T. S. Lewis, Jr.

Of cordial social interest is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Virginia Moseley, of Barnwell, S. C., and T. S. Lewis, Jr., of Atlanta, which took place Sunday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Dr. S. L. Morris, who performed the ceremony. The marriage was witnessed by a small group of close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Lewis is the only daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. S. C. Moseley and the sister of S. C. Moseley, Jr., of Barnwell. She attended school at Converse college, in Spartanburg, where she was one of the most popular and charming students. She is descended from a long line of influential Carolina families and has won for herself a wide circle of friends by her winsome manner and enviable traits of character.

Mr. Lewis is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Lewis, two of Atlanta's most prominent citizens. He attended school at the Coast Military academy and since that time has taken an active part in the business world of Atlanta.

Princess Borghese Will Be Honor Guest at Tea Today

Following the lecture this afternoon at Eggleston hall by Princess Santa Borghese, Miss Lillie Wellborn will entertain informally at tea at her home on East Fourteenth street in compliment to this distinguished visitor.

Miss Wellborn has just returned from a delightful visit to New Orleans, where she shared honors with Princess Borghese, who was in New Orleans at that time, at a number of social affairs.

Miss Wellborn will be assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. D. Wellborn, and her sister, Miss M. Wellborn.

Invited to meet Princess Borghese are ten intimate friends of the hostess.

Drums and Dances Feature Meeting of Woman's Club

"Dreams, Just Dreams" was the subject of discussion at the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon, while well may one be imagined, while present at the meeting, that they were experiencing a magnificent dream, as following the beautiful address by Mrs. Edith Wing Peacock, Miss Edna Horine, glided across the stage costumed in the most exquisite, filmy garb of pale blue, and danced Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," under the soft lights of aureole.

Never before has a program been arranged which so completely harmonized, and when members left the club auditorium, it was with the feeling that they had indeed had a dream of fairyland.

Notable Southern Artists Are Exhibitors at Woman's Club

It will be of interest to learn that three artists showing in the present exhibition of women painters and sculptors at the Woman's club are the same time exhibiting with the Southern States Art league in Savannah. Anne Goldthwaite, of Birmingham, Alabama, has won distinction not only for her etchings, but also for her charming paintings of southern subjects. The one on exhibition now at the Woman's club, entitled "Saturday," is an excellent example of the latter. It is broad in treatment—even the canvas is placed left unopened to get the feeling of old southern homes as so true with the typical team of the curb, that one does not really know whether the paint is put on thick or thin. Miss Goldthwaite won first prize in Atlanta before, some years ago, and the art lovers here always welcome her work, not only because she is an artist who has arrived, but because she is doing her best when she portrays the scenes of her southland.

In the exhibition of the Southern States Art league, just now holding its fourth annual exhibit in Savannah, Amelia Whitehurst has a painting of child similar to "Our Phyllis," being shown in the gallery here. Two years ago Miss Whitehurst won first prize in the Southern States league, and she knows that she loves children, for she paints them so admirably; but better still—she has won the love of her little sisters, for they pose for her well enough for her to get true construction—no guess work there—of solid drawing, and her color is clear, clean and vibrant.

Allice Worthington Ball, also of Baltimore, has four canvases in the Savannah exhibition which won much praise; "A Charleston Gateway," shown by her in the present exhibit here, is done in the same manner—solidly painted with a palette knife and her subjects, like Miss Goldthwaite's, are southern, and are harmonious and beautiful in color. There are many other lovely paintings in the exhibit, and it is altogether one of the very best ever shown in Atlanta.

The Atlanta Art association served a host at the exhibition Sunday afternoon, with Mrs. Hollins Randolph as chairman of the following committee: Mesdames Albert Thornton, Sr., Anna Gilbert, A. Ten Eyck Brown, and Mrs. Samuel M. Inman. Many other members of the art association are present, including C. B. Bidwell, president, and much interest expressed in the paintings.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

Acting as hostesses Tuesday, March 25, will be: Council of Jewish Women.

Leads in Membership Drive Of League of Women Voters

Photograph by Stephen Studio.

Mrs. W. C. Wallace, who, with the members of her committee, has obtained the largest number of members to date in the membership drive now being put on by the League of Women Voters.

Reports from the membership drive leaders show that, to date, Squad T ahead, have obtained under the leadership of Mrs. W. C. Wallace more members than any other squad in the League of Women voters.

The drive is progressing and every squad is working with increased vigor. Mrs. Wallace, of the 11th ward, has led her squad ahead of all others so far. The report for the past week has not yet been turned in, so that Mrs. Wallace has still the honor of being ahead.

At a general meeting on Tuesday at 11 o'clock at the chamber of commerce hall, latest reports will be turned in by the squad leaders to Miss Eleanor Raoul, commander-in-chief, and the squad in the lead according to that report will be duly announced. All workers, leaders and interested women are urged to attend the meeting. It is easy to see what strides the squads are making in gaining new members for the Atlanta League of Women voters, the reports are most encouraging, and by the week of April 7-12, when the concentrated effort and wide spread publicity will bring the membership more strikingly home to Atlantans, it is believed that the goal of 1,000 new members for the Atlanta league, will have been easily reached.

The six members of Squad T, work-

Decatur Junior High P.-T. A. Holds Meeting

The Parent-Teacher association of the Decatur Junior High school met March 18 at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. J. C. LeHardy presided, and expressed her gratification at the growing membership and good attendance of mothers.

The meeting was opened with two beautiful selections by the school orchestra. This orchestra, directed by Mrs. Christine Lee, consists of 16 members, and is a credit both to the school and to the teacher of music.

To give the mothers some idea of the chapel exercises conducted twice a week by the children, Mrs. LeHardy asked Miss Fincher, president of the Debating club, to take the chair and preside over a debate recently given by pupils of Seven-A. The subject of debate was "Resolved, That Infanticide Should Be Abolished in Junior High."

Eulalia Napier, Martha Johnson and Pearl Hazleg, affirmative, debated with Margaret Edley, Lucille Woodberry, and Virginia Broyles, negative.

The affirmative side won the decision. Reports from the various committees were given: Mrs. Charles D. Honicker, chairman of the committee on athletics, reported disbursement of $2,500, with $1,200 still on hand. Mrs. Wiley Jones, treasurer, made a complete report, citing a long list of expenditures with a balance of $22.28.

The committee on grounds explained a plan in operation to raise funds to fence off and protect the new shrubs recently set out by the association. Mrs. Roberts asked for co-operation toward winning the Merchants and Manufacturers' contest, in which the school is so actively engaged. Mothers were asked to become familiar with the plan and to save all cartons and containers which count in this contest.

Mrs. Dews, of the health committee, made a most interesting report on the excellent work done in the medical examination recently made by Dr. Harris, health officer of DeKalb. She announced that a prize would be given to the child showing the most marked improvement in his or her physical condition in a limited time.

Mrs. Richards spoke of the state and national Parent-Teacher associations, and announced the dates on which these two organizations have their annual conventions.

Wheat Williams, principal of the school, having been asked to speak on the essential qualifications of a Junior High teacher, made an impromptu speech that showed how well he has thought out the needs and aims of his school. A few of the requisites he mentioned as being necessary to the success of a Junior High school teacher were: An exemplary daily life in the community; a courteous attitude toward pupils; ability to teach his subject; personality and initiative in projecting and directing school activities; willingness to teach citizenship by being a well informed, active citizen; absolute loyalty to the Junior High ideals and principles.

The prize for attendance of mothers went to Miss Milton's class, of which Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Thomas are class mothers.

MEMPHIS BANKER COMMITTS SUICIDE

Memphis, Tenn., March 24.—Robert E. Polk, former senior vice president of the Union and Planters Bank and Trust company and for many years a prominent figure in local financial circles, killed himself at his home here early today.

He was alone in his bedroom at the time he fired a bullet into his brain. Death came within a few minutes.

Relatives and friends declined to admit to advance any motive for the act, which came on the eve of a grand jury investigation of an alleged shortage of $41,000 in the bank's funds, which was announced last week. So far as could be learned through the police and members of the family, Polk left no explanation of his deed nor a statement regarding the affairs at the bank, of which he was formerly the second officer.

Awakened By Wife.

According to the police report, Polk was awakened shortly before 8 o'clock this morning by his wife. A few minutes later Mrs. Polk, who was in an adjoining dressing room, and others in the house were startled by a pistol shot. Mrs. Polk rushed to her husband's bedroom and found his body lying on the floor, face downward. A new .38-caliber revolver lay on the rug nearby.

A physician was hastily summoned but Polk died before his arrival. Examination of the body revealed a bullet wound in the right temple and another on the opposite side of the head, where the bullet passed through the hand. One chamber of the revolver was empty.

Had Returned Saturday.

Mr. Polk returned to the city last Saturday from El Paso, Texas, where he was located Thursday. At that time he promised newspaper men that he would issue a statement relative to the alleged shortage in the bank's funds discovered by examiners of the state banking department and the federal reserve system. He also promised a statement relative to his dismissal by the bank's board of directors last week. Neither statement ever was issued, officials of the bank declared that Polk had not conferred with them since his return from Texas.

Polk had remained in seclusion at his home since his return and denied himself to all callers. Inquiry at the home last night elicited only the information that he "had nothing to say" at that time. He never explained his trip to Texas.

Mr. Polk was last seen at his desk in the bank on March 15. He did not appear on the following Monday, but his secretary said he had telephoned. He left the city Monday night, accompanied by Mrs. Polk. He left no word with officials of the bank or his close friends.

COLON POISONING BRINGS OLD AGE

Destroys Health and Causes Permanent Degeneration of all Vital Organs.

You are a wise man or woman if you understand your colon and keep it in perfect working order. Health, happiness, vigor and long life are the gifts which an active colon gives you—and a lazy colon takes away.

Your colon is the last five feet of your digestive canal. It is your sewerage system; your garbage can, so to speak. Keep it clean and you are well and happy; let it stagnate and it will distill the poisons of decay, fermentation (gas) and putrefaction into your blood, poisoning your brain and nerves so that you are restless, irritable and blue; poisoning your heart so that you are weak, listless and lazy; poisoning your lungs so that your breath is heavy or foul; poisoning your stomach and digestive organs so that you are bloated, belching and uncomfortable with gas pains; poisoning your blood so that your skin looks yellow, sallow and unhealthy; poisoning every part and organ of your body through your blood, making you look and feel old and ugly long before your time; making your joints and your back stiff and rheumatic; your eyes dull and your brain sluggish.

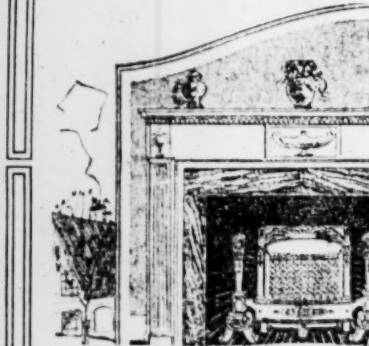

By the perfect law of Nature, your colon should empty itself three times a day—within an hour after eating. Does your colon work that well? If not, it has lost its tone. What do we mean by tone? Your colon is a hollow muscle. Its walls are made up of long muscle fibres or muscle cells which, by their contraction, empty the colon just as you would squeeze a rubber hose pipe. These muscle fibres should contract three times a day—within an hour after each meal. If they do not contract, they have lost their tone—their power to contract.

But, there is a practically perfect remedy for lazy, flabby colons. This remedy quickly restores the tone, is absolutely harmless and decidedly pleasant to take. Clip this article and take it to your druggist. Tell him to give you a bottle of Colofone—the colon tonic. It will cost you one day's worth of your appetite, but if you are not pleased with it, nothing if you are not pleased with it, for every druggist has been instructed to refund the price and return the bottle if his customer is not thoroughly satisfied.

But you will be delighted with Colofone, for it will make you feel like a different person. Your eyes will sparkle with vitality and alertness; your brain will be clear and active; your complexion will be fresh and transparent, reflecting the purity of your blood; your digestion will be thorough and your appetite keen, for your food will taste delightful and will agree with you; you will sleep and awake refreshed; your system will be full of vim and vigor; you will feel younger, stronger, vigorous—you will enjoy the pleasure of living.

Get started on Colofone today. Nearly every person over twenty-five or thirty years of age, and many younger, need Colofone more or less. You will be simply delighted with it. Colofone cannot possibly do you any harm—it can only do you good. Try it on our guarantee. It will help you live long, well and happily.—(adv.)

HAYES, MUNDELEIN MADE CARDINALS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Rome, March 24.—The elevation of Archbishop Hayes of New York and Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago, to cardinals of the Roman Catholic faith, took place this morning at the moment of the delivery of the sacred "billetti" by special emissaries from Pope Pius after a secret consistory, in which these two American prelates were formally raised to the purple of the cardinalate.

When the pontifical emissaries delivered the tidings, they addressed each recipient as "Most Illustrious and Most Reverend Archbishop," but on their leave taking the form of address was: "Most Eminent and Reverend Prince."

Henceforth the titles to be employed in addressing the American dignitaries will be "Your Eminence," instead of "Your Grace."

The American members of the sacred college now number four, the two others being Cardinal O'Connell, of Philadelphia, and Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia.

The pontiff, in reading his allocution in which the American prelates were nominated, pronounced an impressive eulogy of the American people, especially the staunch Catholics who had given so liberally to charity since the war. The pope gave as his reason for elevating Archbishops Hayes and Mundelein "their personal qualities, the importance of their respective sees and the zeal and merit of their pastoral ministry, which has already shed luster on the hierarchy of the United States of America."

Despite the unostentatious character of today's ceremonies, large groups of sightseers gathered around the doors of the Vatican to obtain a glimpse of the scenes within.

Start at 10 O'Clock.

Promptly at 10 o'clock a score of violet-garbed cardinals, resident in Rome assembled in the historic consistorial hall and seated themselves in semi-circle before the pontifical throne to await the appearance of the holy father.

The consistorial hall, constructed under Pope Clement VIII, is one of the most richly decorated rooms of the Vatican; its red silk draperies blended with the violet robes of the cardinals, setting off in striking contrast the pure white of the pontiff's vestments as he strode in with slow and measured steps.

His holiness advanced to the throne accompanied by a select staff of Swiss guards. The cardinals one by one approached the pontiff, genuflected and kissed the fisherman's ring. A moment later the music of ceremonies pronounced in sonorous voice: "Extra omnes," whereupon all but the pope and the cardinals filed out of the hall. The pope then read his allocution, nominating the two American prelates to be cardinals.

Cardinals Show Approval.

The approval of the cardinals was indicated at the end of the simultaneous lifting of their skull caps, whereupon his holiness tinkled a little golden bell, indicating that the emissaries might depart to deliver the "billetti" to the chosen dignitaries.

The consistory having been declared ended, the three pontifical emissaries—Monsignor Gervasi, Cardinal Gasparri's master of ceremonies, and Monsignor Tani, Cardinal Gasparri's secretary—departed on their second mission. They drove in a black closed coach drawn by two glistening black horses, simply decorated with black harness.

Pedestrians and Roman shopkeepers turned to gaze as the steeds passed through the squalid cobblestone winding streets.

Archbishops Await Message.

Meanwhile, the prospective recipients of pontifical honors, surrounded by a few close friends, took up their positions to await this official call from the holy father. Monsignor Mundelein, clad in the violet silk robes of an archbishop, waited in the congregational hall of the college of the propaganda, while Archbishop Hayes, similarly attired, waited in the saloon of the American college. Besides the few who were with the expectant prelates in the ante-chambers, about 100 invited guests, including the students of the two colleges, assembled in the two halls to watch the ceremonies.

The papal emissaries drove to the college of the propaganda and delivered Archbishop Mundelein's "billetti" first, as the senior American archbishop, although in years he is the youngest cardinal in the sacred college, being 51. Just as the clock struck 11 the pontifical coach rolled up to the Palazzo di Spagna, upon which fronts the hall wherein Archbishop Mundelein waited in solemn silence.

Silence During Ceremony.

The silence became even more profound as the papal couriers entered. They advanced to the archbishop. Monsignor Gervasi and the other two couriers bent the knee and handed the archbishop an envelope enclosing the papal announcement. Archbishop Mundelein accepted it, bowed and handed it over to Monsignor Marchetti Selvaggi, secretary of the congregation of the propaganda, who opened it and read:

"The holy father in secret consistory has had the benignity to elevate to the dignity of cardinal his grace, the archbishop of the diocese of Chicago, in appreciation and consideration of the great work he has done."

(Signed) GASPARRI.

The new cardinal then delivered a short address of gratitude and the emissaries withdrew. They then drove to the American college where an identical ceremony was enacted with Archbishop Hayes playing the principal role. The hall where the ceremony took place was crowded, many prominent New York dignitaries and laymen being present, as well as students of the American college and a number of correspondents.

Immediately after the ceremonies, the official visits of congratulations began.

SOCIAL ASPIRANTS.

WEARY OF POSING.

GIVE UP TO LAW

Chicago, March 24.—Bored by the social whirl at Miami Beach, where they mingled with bediamonded dowagers and oil magnates, Terry Druggan and Frank Lake returned to Chicago Monday and surrendered to the police.

Long sought by federal prohibition agents and others in connection with various boot-running, exploits and a few bombings, the two declared they had not known anyone was after them.

"Sure, we have been having a good time throwing away a few grand and getting into society," Druggan told Assistant District Attorney William F. Waugh.

Druggan and Lake were charged by Bruce Armstrong, prohibition agent, with being part of a liquor ring responsible for the recent bombing of his home. They denied knowledge of the affair.

LEAGUE APPROVES COOLIDGE'S MOVE TO SHUT OFF ARMS

Paris, March 24.—The prohibition upon the exportation from the United States of arms that might prolong the civil war in Honduras is favorably commented upon by the members of the league of nations disarmament committee, assembled here.

NEW TRAFFIC LAW FOR CITY FAVORED

After attaching several amendments, the traffic committee of council Monday recommended the Armstrong traffic ordinance for adoption, and it will be urged for passage on the floor of council at its next meeting by Alderman J. L. Carpenter, chairman of the committee.

Provisions which were changed included parking regulations, items in the right-of-way provisions and other details in the 10,000-word ordinance. Representatives of the Atlanta Safety council and Retail Merchants' association, both of which had endorsed the original ordinance, said that their organizations would have to withhold endorsement of the amended paper until its provisions had been studied anew.

The committee deferred action on the human ordinance to bar busses and delivery trucks from Whitehall and Peachtree streets. Captain M. V. Barnett, head of the new accident prevention bureau of the police department, attended the meeting and was requested by the members to attend all future traffic committee meetings to advise on changes in traffic ordinances. Captain Barnett told the committee that the traffic bureau would require more men to enforce the present parking laws and still more men if the regulated area was extended.

The Georgia Railway and Power company was voted permission to change the location of its Peachtree street safety island to get it out of the line of pedestrian traffic and to build a new island on Marietta street west of the intersection at Five Points.

HEARTS AFIRE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

INSTALLMENT 80—"CAN HE SEE?"

Amazing thought, beautiful beyond the power of earthly expression! Peter... to be dragged up from the abyssal darkness in which he had been plunged these many, many days!

And, if the astounding happening were true, she—the girl who loved him better than life itself—had been the cause of the amazing miracle!

It was to save her from disaster that he had risen from a bed of sickness and blindness, and flung himself at her assailant. It was her desperate cry that he had answered, in the very nick of time.

"If only it is true!" thought Prudence, a pulse throbbing in her breast, and her two hands clasped together. "If only it is true!"

Miracles had happened, didn't they? And, if a great shock made one blind, then wasn't it possible that a second shock of another kind might make one see again?

She had read of things like that in the daily papers. There had been lots of cases of it in the war. Men who had been blown up by shell explosion and had lost their power of vision had later had their sight restored through some unexpected happening, such as a motor accident, or fire, or concussion of some sort.

Had this same thing, then, occurred in Peter Armstrong's case?

The doctor came, and Will Ogilvie sat with Prudence in the little parlor of Pear Tree cottage, while the medicine and nurse attended to the patient. "Don't you believe what that Brown woman says about this excitement and effort being the death of Armstrong's case?"

The doctor came, and Will Ogilvie sat with Prudence in the little parlor of Pear Tree cottage, while the medicine and nurse attended to the patient. "Don't you believe what that Brown woman says about this excitement and effort being the death of Armstrong's case?"

"He recognized Traymore. So he must have seen him. Isn't it wonderful?"

Will's rather somber face lit up. "Great! But I've heard of such things before. If a great shock delivers you of your sight, sometimes a great shock of some sort, it will be restored again. Not always, of course," he added, afraid to bolster her hopes too high, for the fall could be all the greater if such hopes did not materialize.

Then Will added, with a grin: "I don't blame him for rushing to be seen. He had everything at stake, didn't he? The girl he loved—and these papers which you say are the record of his new invention."

He produced Peter's loose-leaf notebooks, and a couple of torn documents of some sort.

"This is all I could find. I don't imagine the chap got away with anything at all. Even if he did, the thing would have to be complete before it would be any use to him, I guess."

Prudence and he examined the jottings underneath the lamp. "I used to be keen on lab. work as a boy," Will peered at the papers. "These look to me as though they were more or less in order."

Prudence drew a deep breath of relief. And then she said:

A Good Barometer.

To those who thrive on unfounded rumors and to the "I-know" individuals whose expressed "knowledge" is seldom, if ever, based on fact, the Japanese loan being floated here and in London should serve as a great political lesson, if nothing else. The reported quick absorption by investors in Britain with the likely similar result here would seem to be clear evidence that those who have been preaching of a conflict with Japan have been harboring fallacious impressions.

When it comes to a showdown, money, especially if in such an amount as is involved in this Japanese government loan, has a peculiar way of depicting true political relationships. Investors and bankers have a fairly keen eye when it comes to such investments and they would be the first to show wariness, especially as regards an international loan, if there was any particular uncertainty as to the future friendliness between the United States and Japan. If the men who underwrote this huge loan had seen any possibility of a breach, the general public can be sure that the very first approaches relative thereto would have been met with an icy attitude.

The just-announced statement of Secretary Hughes in which he recommended that Japan be put on an equality in immigration would seem also to show that our national leaders are not especially worrying as to our future relationship with this far eastern nation.

Those persons who have been humbugged by United States-Japanese cantankerous howlers would do well to heed these actualities rather than the pernicious and unfounded rumors of future discord between the two nations. None of the rumors would seem borne out by fact.

Noozie

THE AMBITION OF MY LIFE IS TO GET A SHOT AT THAT MARCH LION FOLKS ARE TALKING SO MUCH ABOUT!

"It seems incredible to think that Traymore would try to do such a mean, callous thing!"

Will's sardonic grin widened.

"Worse than stealing pennies out of a blind man's hat, eh? But he didn't reckon that the blind man would have the strength of a Samson, did he? I'll bet our pretty gentleman got the shock of his life when the invalid hurled himself into the fray! And it seems you weren't behind hand, either, Miss Prudence. I've got to admit you were plucky. Till lately—" he flushed a little under her sallow skin—"till lately, I didn't think much of women, if you don't mind my saying so? But you and Janet have made me alter my opinion a bit. I've got to hand it to you both—for nerve—and for sticking by a fellow."

"This gracefully worded tribute would have made Prudence laugh, at any other time."

But her ears and heart were keyed to the doctor's footsteps coming from the patient's room.

"He's such a big, strong fellow," she said, once or twice, rather pitifully to Will. "It would be like giving him back the earth again, if he can see."

"And if he can't? What then?" supplemented the other.

Prudence's face was like the countenance of some exquisite madonna, as she answered, quickly:

"Then I want nothing better than to be allowed to look after him, and be a pair of eyes to him, all the rest of his life and mine."

A lump rose in Ogilvie's throat, and at the same time a shamed feeling took him when he remembered his past jealousy of this man. How wonderful women were! How truly capable of self-sacrifice! Take this girl Prudence and her unselfish love! Take Janet and her work and her forgiveness of himself!

Prudence sprang up as the doctor emerged from Peter's room.

"His eyes? His eyes?" she whispered.

The doctor patted her upon the shoulder.

"The best news in the world, my dear! Young Armstrong's yearning for a sight of you, so go to him."

"You mean... he can see?" Prudence clutched him by the arm.

The old doctor nodded, cleared his throat a couple of times, and then said brusquely to hide his own emotion:

"When a chap's got such a pretty girl as you, you don't expect him to do without his eyesight, do you?"

Investors and bankers have a fairly keen eye when it comes to such investments and they would be the first to show wariness, especially as regards an international loan, if there was any particular uncertainty as to the future friendliness between the United States and Japan. If the men who underwrote this huge loan had seen any possibility of a breach, the general public can be sure that the very first approaches relative thereto would have been met with an icy attitude.

The just-announced statement of Secretary Hughes in which he recommended that Japan be put on an equality in immigration would seem also to show that our national leaders are not especially worrying as to our future relationship with this far eastern nation.

Those persons who have been humbugged by United States-Japanese cantankerous howlers would do well to heed these actualities rather than the pernicious and unfounded rumors of future discord between the two nations. None of the rumors would seem borne out by fact.

THE SULTAN.

"There iss a good job over in Turkey for a sultan, Mr. Weber, maybe you should like to make application-ings for the positions?"

"I know me a little about the sultan business. Maybe I would like it. All the sultan has to do iss to make a bubble pipe while somebody blows moose on a doodle horn and the girls dance a bally hoo. As my secretary, you may write whoever iss in charges, and tell them I will take the job mit provisions."

"Provisions for what?"

"Good eating provisions for as many wives as should go mit the job."

"But you may not be able to get the job because you are unable to speak Turkey."

"I don't have to speak Turkey as long as I can talk Turkey. By talking Turkey I can maybe get some special concessions."

"Would you mind telling me chust how to talk Turkey?"

"To talk Turkey you should have an oily tongue."

"You are besides the subjects as usualness. I will ask you a few questions chust to let you make a public display of your preponderance."

"Vell then if he iss not offensive, why did they exile him?"

"Maybe I should guess that it iss cheaper to exclude him than to pay the lawyers to get him divorced from his wives."

"I can visualize you in the proud position of sultan mit full power, sitting on the throne, and surrounded by your many wives."

"You can see only one side of it." "Vell didn't you see yourself happy in possession of the throne and the harem?"

"No, I do not see myself sitting on the throne surrounded by my wives. I see myself bruised and bleeding and possibly internal injury, lying on the ground surrounded by my wives. Maybe I should reconsideration and not take the job."

"May be you iss right. Von wife iss enough. We will sing: 'It Is Clothes That Make the Woman and This Iss Only Human, But in the Sultan's Harem They Very Seldom Wear 'Em.'"

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feeling

By Briggs

WHEN YOU'VE GOT A LARGE MOP-OF GOLDEN HAIR YOU HATE TO LOSE, BUT THE ONLY HATS ARE THOSE MADE FOR BOBBED HEADS.

AND YOU TRY ON ALL THE HATS IN TOWN IN HOPES OF FINDING ONE THAT WILL SLIP DOWN.

BUT EACH ONE LOOKS WORSE THAN THE LAST.

UNTIL YOU FINALLY DECIDE TO PART WITH YOUR BEAUTIFUL LOCKS AND YOU SPEND YOUR LAST NIGHT WITH THEM IN A MOURNFUL FAREWELL.

AND THE NEXT DAY AFTER THE OPERATION IS OVER YOU GO TO THE STORE AND SAY—"GIVE US A HAT!"

AND WHEN YOU TRY THE VERY FIRST ONE IT SLIPS ON! DOWN JUST AS EASY.

OH-H-H-BOY! AIN'T IT A GR-R-R-RAND AND GLOR-R-IOUS FEELIN'?

"The Hunchback"

(At the Atlanta.)

So great has been the rush to see the filming of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," that the Atlanta Theater has decided to continue the picture for another week.

From beginning to end the plot is replete with thrills and magnificent photographic scenes. The director has spared no pains to dig into the history of the fifteenth century to give an accurate presentation of the customs of medieval Paris. This is shown in the many instances, where the insignificant details of the play prove that deep research has accompanied the ordinary technical production of a film play.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" is one of the greatest conquests of the silver screen up to date. It ranks with "Ben Hur" and "The Prisoner of Zenda" in quality and fine artistic presentation, while Lon Chaney and Patsy Ruth Miller, the versatile stars, reach the acme of interpretive art in the play.

"A Society Scandal"

(At the Howard.)

Without a doubt "A Society Scandal" is Gloria Swanson's best picture. The Howard is destined to have all Atlanta's elite flocking to this week for no one should miss this very excellent program. Miss Swanson is resplendent in gorgeous gowns wearing them as only she can wear them. Fourteen different pictures are shown, which she wears dramatically through this picture which is an adaptation by Paramount from the stage success "The Laughing Lady." Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix and Al Simpson are featured in the supporting cast.

Mr. Buel B. Rinsinger, new musical director of the enlarged Howard Symphony orchestra, has been accorded a tremendous ovation as his portrait was thrown on the screen and also as he entered the pit to conduct the overture. The overture was warmly received.

The Juvenile Follies proved to be a knockout. The seven clever kiddies featured in this act are surely the future stars of tomorrow. They feature impersonations of famous stars of the stage, singers and dancers.

The comedy is "Busy Buddies" featuring Neal Burns.

"Painted People"

(At the Metropolitan.)

Colleen Moore became famous for her "lamb" roles before the present-day flapper stepped into the limelight. Following the film fashions, she starred in a flapper role in "Flaming Youth" and, in theatrical parlance, "knocked them cold" for "Flaming Youth" was the sensation of the year.

Colleen Moore's latest offering, "Painted People," a First National picture, which opened yesterday at the Metropolitan theater and is enjoying unusual success.

The Rainbow orchestra with new selections was the usual big hit. A new Mack Sennett comedy, "Scare Em Chuck," came in for a generous amount of laughs. Enrico Leide and the New Metropolitan Symphony orchestra received an ovation at every performance.

OWEN DAVIS PLAY OFFERS THRILLER TO LYRIC CROWD

A real Owen Davis thriller held a first night Lyric audience Monday alternately in agonies of suspense and throes of unrestrained and happy laughter, just as Owen Davis thrillers have done since Broadway gaped at horse cars and road shows played at the Bijou in Atlanta.

The play was "Up the Ladder" and in it the author proved to be a succession of nine capacity crowds that he has lost none of his skill in drawing good roles for good actors and none of his appreciation for what people will like on the dark side of the foot lights.

The plot savors of melodrama but its treatment is strictly modern in style and in appeal. It opens in the humble home of a ravishingly beautiful steno. A bustling young girl collector, Dave Herber, tells her that her sister as a matrimonial prospect and the second act shows them a rung "up the ladder" in a pretty cottage, financial gain, played sweetly by Will Lloyd, who is a handsome, handsome husband in business and advance himself in the good graces of the bride. The couple seem just about to grasp firmly the top rung of the ladder when a girl flings at the price they will have to pay. They seem about to slip, when the rising young man effects a coup and everything is finished up in truly Owen Davis style.

The local presentation is especially noteworthy for the number of excellent characterizations given by the cast. Miss Marion Wain was stunning as the willful daughter, the rich man and a comedy hit in her leap year love affair with the bashful Rankin Mansfield. She and Ed Leide have been original and convincing versions of comedy acting.

The play is to be presented each night this week and at matinee Tuesday and Saturday and probably will be greeted by a capacity crowd each time.

STEWART F. GELDERS.

LEIDE IS GIVEN SURPRISE MONDAY BY SHRINERS' BAND

Monday night was "Leide night" at the Metropolitan theater—the occasion of the first appearance of the well-known conductor at that playhouse and a surprise in his honor staged by the Mystic Shrine, of which he is a member.

Mr. Leide's first overture was greeted by a storm of applause that swelled into an ovation. His second followed with equal success—and then came the surprise of the evening.

At the close of the second overture, the conductor was astonished to hear loud and sonorous music from the entrance to the house and as it came closer there was a burst of applause from the capacity throng.

Many of whom had heard the conductor was to be given a surprise. So complete was the surprise that Mr. Leide didn't know the music of the Shrine band had surrounded him in the orchestra pit, playing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."
